Numerous Community Benefits Seen from Availability of Space in Valley Road School

"No place to go!" has been a frequent lament over the years in Princeton, from teen-agers, the elderly and a variety of age and interest groups in between.

Now, with the possibility that Township municipal offices may move this summer into the former Valley Road School building, it looks as though Princeton might have community rooms—sort of, and "depending."

Negotiations have been plodding on for a long time between the Township and Borough on one side of the contract, and the schools on the other. Although it's the Township that will be moving, the Borough is an interested party because this is a regional school system whose property is as much the Borough's as the Township's.

Both board and Township would like to sign up as soon as possible. Summertime is an ideal moving time for both.

Plans call for the Township to move all its offices out of Township Hall and its annex, and into the old part of the Valley Road building. The schools, whose offices are now scattered around the building, would consolidate in the new section.

Township police would be the only occupants of Township Hall. Probably the Recreation Department would move out of Valley Road and into the annex, to be closer to pool, courts and park.

But even after all the desks are in place, there will be space left over in Valley Road, particularly the downstairs area that started out as a gym and ended its school life as a cafeteria. What to do with it?

Last winter, the Recreation Department held girls' gymnastics classes there, and the equipment is still in place. Right now, some 30 women meet in the room three times a week for a Slimnastics class, also under the Recreation Department.

Many people in town have pounced on the old cafeteria as an ideal place for a senior citizens' center. There is such a center now, more or less, in the Lloyd Terrace community room. But the room is small and there are reports that some elderly residents in a different economic bracket object to attending events held in a public housing project.

In any case, the problem with using the cafeteria for the elderly is the steep flight of stairs leading down to it. Donald Barr, Recreation Director, says he showed the room to an official from the Department of Community Affairs, who took one look and said, "No!"

A ramp would have to be as steep as a playground slide, and the cost of an elevator would be high.

Borough Council member Martin P. Lombardo says the elderly are "in dire need" of a center and he likes

Citizens' Committee to Discuss Restrictions On Recombinant DNA Research Saturday

Restrictions on any re-combinant DNA research done in Princeton--and, reportedly, severe restrictions --will be discussed this Saturday by members of the Princeton Community Committee on Research with Biohazardous Material.

Like all Saturday meetings of the group, this one will be from 1-3 in Township Hall, and the public is invited. The committee will also meet as usual next Monday at 8 p.m. in Township Hall.

A report from the 11-member committee is due in municipal halls on Monday, May 2. The group is expected to recommend that the Princeton community allow re-combinant DNA experiments whose consequences can't yet be evaluated, or simply aren't known, but only under certain restrictions.

No vote has yet been taken by the committee on this recommendation.

However, on Monday night, the committee did take three formal votes. The eight members present defeated by 5-1, with two abstentions, a motion to forbid any research until the Federal government passes binding legislation.

Susanna Waterman proposed the ban and was the only one who voted for it. Those who abstained were Hessy Taft and Emma Epps.

'No' Better Than Wait? Freeman J. Dyson, a physicist member of the committee, told his colleagues it was destructive to a scientist to say "wait." It would be better to vote a flat "no," he said.

There has not yet been a motion before the committee to ban research totally.

The eight who were present Monday also accepted a statement drafted by chairman Suzanne Fremon which was related to the first "charge" given the group in January by municipal governing bodies--find out whether re-combinant DNA research would damage the health, safety and welfare of the Princeton community.

Some experiments in the field pose no question of damage, Mrs. Fremon pointed out. Others are known to be dangerous. Others fall in a range of danger between these two extremes.

Health and safety, as today's present concerns, are subject to restriction. Welfare however, is a future concern, Mrs. Fremon suggested, related to possible commercial and military research, and poses a profound moral dilemma.

The group unanimously accepted this approach.

P-4 Research Banned. The committee then voted to allow experiments which the guidelines of the National Institutes of Health say are not harmful--so-called "open bench" laboratory work. Mrs. Waterman cast the only "no" vote on this proposal.

Unanimously--with Mrs. Epps abstaining--the group then voted to ban completely in Princeton the kind of research called P-4. Princeton University has repeatedly said it isn't interested in P-4 research in any case. It involves primate genes, animal viruses and so on. Mrs. Epps explained her abstention by saying that she is opposed to the entire idea of DNA research.

That brought the group, Monday night, to the start of a discussion on recommendations and restrictions.

One of the possible restrictions would be a license, to be required of any educational institution or commercial laboratory. Licensing would make any lab engaged in this work, visible and known, and prevent secret research.

Princeton University now puts restrictions on itself, Mrs. Fremon and committee members have observed. Safety, inspections, training of personnel are all part of University proposals, including possible public representation on a University biohazards committee.

REFERENDUM AHEAD? For High School Repairs. A mid-October referendum, asking for a minimum of $1,750,000 to repair the high-school building, was discussed by the school board Tuesday night following a presentation by architects Joel Smith and J. Robert Hillier.

Mr. Hillier, at the end of the discussion, promised to add succeeding steps, at $1,000,000 intervals showing how additional funds could be used.

A complete renovation package, the two architects told the board, would cost $8,124,600. this is the updated cost of the $6,339,700 renovation rejected by Princeton's voters three years ago.

The $1.75 million figure represents what it will cost today to do repair work that would have cost $1 million three years ago. Mr. Hillier emphasized that not all of this is inflation; in fact, most of it simply means that repair work neglected, is repair work that costs more, or "a stitch in time saves nine."

Board member Winthrop Pike pointed out that most of the repair work would be invisible. Money would pay for extensive work on roof, gutters and flashings, replacement of the ventilating system, replacement of ceiling tile, damaged floors, modifying the circuitry of the electric system, revamping the heat control system, and so on.

Since rejection of two referendums about three years ago -- the second modified after the first was turned down -- the high school has had some repairs: $100,000 on science labs and $100,000+ for a safety stairway leading from the auditorium balcony.

No capital outlay has been in a school budget for the past two years. Ronald Novak, business administrator, told the Board Tuesday that the $400,000 to re-do the auditorium and $300,000 for the girls' lockers, was too much for a single year's capital outlay.

Plan Would Be Different. Mr. Hillier told the board he wouldn't present the same plan to the public as before, although the scope would be the same. Energy matters are more in the forefront of people's thoughts than they were, he pointed out. And more energy-control could be put into effect.

"Walls in the old, 1928 building are as tight as anything you could find, for purposes of conserving energy," he said. "But the windows are like a sieve."

"I don't see how we can avoid spending $1.75 million," delcared board member Hannah fox. "The main question is -- spending more."

She asked high school principal George Petrillo the most pressing needs from the viewpoint of educational programs. He told her every classroom is used almost every period, and there is almost no chance for flexibility. Loss of the outbuildings meant loss of 10 classrooms, he said; the Learning Community requires three; enrollment is growing by 50 to 74 yearly.

"We're worse off than we were two years ago," he told the board. Board members commented: Joan Doig suggested setting a dollar limit; Rosalind Frisch said the board should postpone action until it can confer with the new superintendent; Dale Madden suggested figuring the impact ot the tax rate ot $1, 2, 3 and 4 million; Dietrich Meyerhofer said he wanted to know which items related to safety and which to money-saving. Fluroescent lighting, for example -- not included in the Spaeth-Hillier figures -- is said to be energy-saving and cheaper.

Next Tuesday, at the regular business meeting, the board is scheduled to hear public comment on charges by Mrs. Lucy MacKenzie that the board violated the sunshine law in voting for officers by secret ballot. She has also charged that the board did not vote publicly on a resolution to go into executive session for pre-balloting discussion.

Wine Talk

THE OUTSTANDING WHITE WINES OF THE RHEINGAU

There is no question at all that the wines of the Rheingau are the best in Germany, and rank alongside their peers of the Moselle and the great white Burgundies insofar as variety in taste and characteristics are concerned

The Rheingau lies on the right bank of the Rhine River, which begins in Switzerland and then flows north until it reaches Mainz, where it turns sharply to the southwest. It is here in this bend, for a distance of only twenty miles, that the river flows through the celebrated wine towns from Weisbaden to Rudesheim. The total acreage under production is quite small, about 5,000 acres, which represents only a fraction compared to the number of acres under cultivation in other wine districts of Germany

There are fourteen picturesque villages along the river's edge of which the following named are world famous for the excellence of their wines, these are: Hochheim, Eltville, Rauenthal, Erbach, Kiedrich, Hattenheim, Oestrich, Hollgarten, Winkel, Johannisberg, Geisenheim, Rudesheim, Walluf, and Assmannshausen. Late gathered Rheingau great growths are true kings in the royalty of wines. They are rich wines with exquisite breed and will last for many years. Assmannshausen produces a small amount of red wines, which are never important and is almost exclusively consumed in Germany.

Valley Road School

Valley Road. He acknowledges the problem of access and stairways, but points to other rooms in the building.

He would like to see rooms devoted to the kinds of crafts that would appeal to elderly men, and to people who prefer tools to books. There is also space for game rooms, he suggests, and a small library.

For Casual Basketball. At Township Committee last Wednesday, Mayor Josie Hall wondered whether the cafeteria wouldn't make a nifty place for pick-up basketball games for men who don't play in any of the formal leagues.

Great for that purpose, Mr. Barr agrees. He also likes to think of the school's regular gym in the new building, the one that was used as a gym right up to the day the kids moved out a few years ago. It's too small for the kind of high-powered, competitive games the men's leagues play, he explained, and would be perfect for casual matches, if there is sufficient demand.

But Mr. Lombardo says there are enough sports facilities in the town already. Valley Road should have an all-purpose set of uses, he believes, and even if it became a center for old people's activites, others could use the craft and shop rooms.

There is a room, now used by the schools as a printing room, which is big and has a ramp. It leads right in from the big parking lot, which is another advantage.

However, it's possible that the Township may want it for office space. Administrator Joseph R. Nini says no decisions have been made yet about who goes into what room. He did say firmly that the old cafeteria has always been set aside for community use.

Mr. Barr likes the cafeteria as a summer refuge for playground kids if it rains. "We could show movies, or set up crafts. It would also be a great meeting room--organization meetings for softball or basketball leagues, or a place to train our playground staff."

"For Everyone." Janet Pearson, who runs the Council of Community Services, thinks of Valley Road not solely as a recreation center or a place for the elderly to gather, but as a center for the whole town. Right now, the elderly go to Lloyd Terrace, black kids to the Youth Center, and so on. She'd like a place where they might all be under one roof.

"It used to be a school," she points out, "and therefore a facility designed to handle large numbers of people. Frankly, I think it's expensive space to be used as office space."

One of those working on negotiations with the school board is Abbot Low Moffat, former Township Committee member. He proposes the cafeteria as a community room, administered by Mr. Barr, with perhaps a $10,000 expenditure to make it habitable, and the big teachers' lounge, which can hold about 50 people, for the elderly or handicapped. It can be reached by a ramp.

Proposals now under consideration call for $1 - a - year rent, paid by the Township to the school board. The Township will do its own maintenance and janitorial work, and will reimburse the schools for such things as the Township's share of the heat.

If the boiler bursts, or the roof gives way, or any other capital costs must be met, there is a formula for who pays how much.

How Long a Lease? A few things remain to be settled. Use of the cafeteria, for one thing. Also, the length of the lease. The schools would like a three-year lease, but the Township wants five years. Township officials believe that the move is too radical a change to be contemplated for only a three-year period.

The Township itself has some problems to solve. Would there be a charge for use of the cafeteria? What kinds of groups should be allowed? If there is heavy use on evenings or week-ends when the building would normally be closed, how can this be handled?

As a community center, Valley Road has a lot going for it, many people believe. There is the large school parking lot. Most of the community's recreation facilities--swimming pool, tennis, paddle and bocci courts--are across the street, and the new park-picnic-pond area across Route 206 will soon be ready.

It is, in a way, already a "center."

BROADWATER BOWS OUT

Litvack, Klein to Run. Democrat Margaret Broadwater said this week that she will not run for a second term on Township Committee.

The Democratic ticket will be Kate Litvack and David Klein. The executive committee of the Princeton Community Democratic Organization will recommend an endorsement of the pair by the PCDO membership.

Republican Elizabeth Hutter, the other Committee member whose term expires this year, said that she has not yet made up her mind whether to seek a second term.

A Princeton resident for 11 years – seven in the Borough and four in the Township – Mrs. Litvack lives at 61 Laurel Road. She holds a B.A. in political science from Wellesley (1964) and has been active in local Democratic politics, serving currently as Democratic Municipal Chairman in the Township. She was president of the PCDO in 1975 and has held several offices in the organization.

Mrs. Litvack is a member of the Township Environmental Commission and its secretary, and is also vice-chairman of the Joint Recreation Board. She is married and has one child.

Mr. Klein is executive director of the American Council on Germany, with offices in New York. He is retired from the U.S. Foreign Service and last served in Germany. A resident of Princeton for the past two years, he lives with his wife and five children at 6 Greenhouse Drive.

Dr. Broadwater said that she decided not to run because she has been teaching a three-course, full-time load at Rutgers, and expects that schedule to continue. She teaches constitutional law and public policy.

SEWER CHARGE UP

For Township Residents. The minimum sewer charge paid each year by Township home-owners will go from $45 to $55 under a new ordinance to be introduced by Committee this Wednesday. The overage fee, for big water users, will be raised from $3 to $4.

At last week's Committee meeting, Administrator Joseph R. Nini reported a shortage of $21,237 in the sewer tax account. Raising the rate by $7, he said, would enable the Township to break even. He recommended a $10 increase – in case. The increase will be reflected in the new 1977 tax bills that go out in June.

Martha Lamar has submitted her resignation from the Princeton Regional Planning Board, but will remain until a successor is chosen, she told Committee.

Increasing responsibilities in her job with the state's Department of Community Affairs – she is a housing specialist – made her decide to resign, she said in a letter of resignation.

Committee member Margaret Broadwater, citing Mrs. Lamar's extensive background and experience in housing in New Jersey, an experience that extends over many years, urged appointment of a replacement with an equal amount of experience and commitment.

Floyd Due Back. Dr. Broadwater revealed that former Township Mayor James A. Floyd is moving back to the Princeton community after a four and one-half years' absence. She suggested Mr. Floyd, who had been active in Princeton Community Housing, Inc. and the Princeton Housing Group, as a possible appointee.

Mayor Josie Hall may announce a replacement for Mrs. Lamar at this Wednesday's meeting.

Also this Wednesday, Committee will introduce the ordinance reducing speed on Mt. Lucas Road from 50 to 30 m.p.h. The speed limit on Witherspoon will be increased from 25 to 30. The ordinance will also reduce the 50 m.p.h. limit on Gallup and Stetson to 30, and on Talbot, to 25.

Still working away on the amendment to the bikepath application -- it's on the agenda again for this Wednesday -- Committee unanimously agreed last Wednesday on the earth-and-grass seat amphitheatre for the north side of Community Park. The overall cost difference between earth and wood is $27,500 compared to $43,000. The difference to the Township is $4,920, taking into account a contribution by the Borough.

Land to be Accepted. In other open space matters, Committee has agreed to accept 45 acres of land from Mrs. Mary Pardee and will introduce the necessary ordinance this Wednesday. Mayor Hall remarked last Wednesday that the land is steep and rocky, and almost impossible for building. It lies north of, but not adjoining, the north side of Community Park recreation area.

Mrs. Pardee has specified that there will be no hunting or sports on the land, no lumbering or quarrying from its old quarries, and no parking or roadways. "It provides beautifully for the future of the Township," commented Committee member David Blair.

Before applying for Green Acres funds to develop Basin Park, Mayor Hall said, the Township wants an estimate on costs of dredging the turning basin.

A request by New Jersey Bell Telephone to change its installation costs -- at a reputed $7 million cost to consumers, according to an estimate from the public advocate, quoted to Dr. Broadwater -- drew Committee's attention last Wednesday. Dr. Broadwater is drafting a letter to the Public Utilities Commission protesting the change if it hurts the consumer, and commending it in ways that it might benefit the consumer.

"It doesn't hurt for the utilities to know that Little Brother -- the local municipalities – is watching you!" Mayor Hall observed.

Committee agreed unanimously to sell to the Princeton Packet a strip of Township-owned land between the Packet building and the Township-owned former bus garage on John Street. The upset price was $25,000 and the Packet's bid – the only one – was $26,100.

NURSE, OFFICER HURT

In Hospital Disturbance. A nurse and a Montgomery Township patrolman were injured last week in a disturbance in the emergency room at Princeton Medical Center.

Gail McNamara received abrasions when she was struck in the forehead and a blow to the kidney caused contusions and internal bleeding. She was admitted to the hospital for treatment.

Ptl. Kenneth Chrusz received a cracked bone in his right hand when he was assaulted by Timothy P.

Quaker Road Closed

Drivers will have to wait until Monday before they can use Quaker Road to reach U.S. 1.

Quaker Road, between Princeton Pike and the Port Mercer canal bridge, was closed Monday to allow the County to repair and resurface a bridge at Squatters' Grove. Chief Frederick Porter warned that the road is closed to through traffic 24 hours a day until the repair work is finished. It is scheduled to reopen on Monday.

Drivers are urged to go down Mercer Road to Provinceline, left on Provinceline to Port Mercer at the canal and then out to Route 1. During rush hours to expedite traffic, Chief Porter advises motorists to use alternate roads: Alexander, Washington or Harrison Street. Detour signs have been posted, he said.

Zydiak, 18, of Manville. Zydiak was charged with atrocious assault and battery on Ms. McNamara and assault on Ptl. Chrusz.

He was later released in $2500 bail set by acting Judge Robert Casey, and is scheduled to appear in court May 4.

A 15-year old girl, a resident of Neshanic, was charged with interfering with the hospital's medical staff. She is being processed by Borough Juvenile Officer Douglas Watson.

Sgt. Thomas Procaccino and Ptl. Joseph Wilhelm responded to a 10:24 call Saturday night by Ptl. Chrusz that he was having trouble containing three disorderly persons in the emergency room. The three were being treated following an accident in Montgomery Township in which the driver was charged with drunken driving.

Faces Marijuana Charges. Thomas Martine, 28, 32 Wiggins Street, was arrested Friday and charged with possession of under 25 grams of marijuana and with growing marijuana.

He was arrested at the Wiggins Street address by Detectives Timothy Huizing and Ronald Holliday and Ptl. Victor Fasanella, who executed a search warrant. Martine was issued summonses for both charges, released and ordered to appear in court May 5.

Township police have charged Carmelita Bekeles, 677 Cherry Hill Road, with shoplifting.

She was apprehended Sunday afternoon in Bamberger's in the Princeton Shopping Center by Delores Borosko of the store's security department, after she allegedly shoplifted a pair of jeans valued at $23. She was taken to police headquarters by Ptl. Robert Nielsen and later released, pending her appearance in Township court.

Arthur S. Connover, 55, of Trenton, was arrested Monday afternoon by Ptl. Peter Handley and charged with tampering with a motor vehicle.

He was detained at the Springdale Golf Club by Gerald Wetzel, head of Princeton University Security, after he was allegedly observed rummaging through the car of James Kopliner, assistant director for University security.

Two Trenton residents, Dwight Craig, 20, and Charles Ray, 19, face a court appearance May 18 after being charged by police with trespassing.

Seen by University security members at Holder Hall on the campus at 2:52 in the morning, both fled across Nassau Street to the rear of the Wine and Game building where they climbed to the roof. They were apprehended by Ptl. David Alston and Ptl. Chris Boutote.

William K. Blackburn, 49, no known address, was arrested last week after an employee of a Nassau Street shop called police to complain that Blackburn was loud and disorderly while sitting on a doorstep and creating a disturbance.

Ptl. Fasanella responded and made the arrest. Court appearance for Blackburn is May 4.

PLAY IT AGAIN

Asks Planning Board to Reconsider. Claudette Rubin has asked the Planning Board to reconsider requests she made in connection with her property at 19 Vandeventer – the large yellow house on the corner of Vandeventer and Park, often known as the Beattie House.

The board's sub-division committee will discuss her request at its 5 p.m. meeting this Wednesday in Borough Hall. If Committee members decide her request has merit, they will so report to the Planning Board. If they don't think it is a merited request, the matter will drop.

Mrs. Rubin wants to subdivide her property so that she can build a house at the rear of the present house, facing Park. She also asked the Planning Board for variances from lot depth and setback regulations.

Although the board on April 5 voted 4-3 to grant her requests, the "yes" vote did not represent a majority of the board's quorum. The board has 14 members, and a quorum is eight. A majority of the quorum would be five, so Mrs. Rubin lacked one vote.

The subdivision committee consists of Margen Penick, Planning Board chairman, Jerome Rose and Walton Johnson. In the April 5 vote, Mr. Rose voted against granting the subdivision and variances, and Mrs. Penick in favor. Mr. Johnson was not eligible to vote because he had not been present at the public hearing.

CBs STILL POPULAR

With Thieves. CB radios continue to be popular with thieves in Princeton.

Elsa N. Lopez of Lambertville called police at 1:15 Thursday morning to report that her $70 CB radio had been removed from her car which she had parked and locked at 9:30 Wednesday evening in front of 81 Leigh Avenue. A window on the passenger side had been smashed, police said.

A Princeton resident reported the theft of a $150 CB from his van while it was parked in the Witherspoon Street lot, and a Hopewell resident lost his CB unit valued at $180 from his car parked on Witherspoon near Hulfish. There was no forced entry in either theft, police said.

Water Wanted

Thirsty tulip
Lifts its cup,
Hopes for rain
To fill it up.

April rainfall is actually above normal, but only because we had two days on which a total of better than two inches fell. And the last of those was more than two weeks ago.

As the heat and humidity move up (sound like midsummer?), so does the chance of showers, but no real rain is in sight, the Man reports. He listed both Thursday and Friday as days in which showers may occur toward evening, but steady precipitation is not likely before Monday at the earliest.

April, meanwhile, has joined March as the second month in a row to produce temperatures averaging above normal. It took a while to accomplish, with those sub-freezing readings early in the month, but the warmth now is here to stay.

Pocketbook Taken. Virginia Brewer of East Windsor, an employee of the Unitarian Church on Cherry Hill Road, last week placed her pocketbook containing her green wallet in a locked kitchen cabinet in the church. When she returned two hours later, she discovered the cabinet door hinges had been pried loose.

She lost $40 and a $25 gift certificate. A search of the grounds and rooms by the police was unsuccessful.

Dr. Rami Rosnen of Suite A, Princeton Medical Center, reported the theft Thursday afternoon of 15 pairs of contact lenses with a total value of $525.

They were taken between 1 and 2 p.m. – 13 pair from a briefcase in an unlocked storage room and two pair from a shelf in an office next to the storage room. Each pair was the same make and style, Dr. Rosnen said.

Early Friday morning, a few minutes after midnight, a Princeton area resident called police to report that both license plates had been stolen from his car parked on Palmer Square.

The registration, police said, read SQUASH.

BIGGER LIBRARY?

Meeting Planned. How about a subscription drive to raise money toward the library's $700,000 expansion? Borough Mayor Robert W. Cawley suggested at his Tuesday press conference. He was reminding Princeton residents of a meeting with library trustees next Thursday, April 28, at 8 p.m. in the library, to talk about these plans.

"Do you suppose a major slug of that money could come from subscriptions?" he asked, "Maybe a committee could be formed to explore the possibility."

The Friends of the Public Library, which has about 600 members, hasn't offered to become a fund-raiser, the mayor said.

The library would like to add 14,000 square feet to the 29,850 it already has. The addition would take the form of a third floor – for which the building was designed – and a bigger children's room, enlarged by moving the south wall farther south.

Mayor Cawley said he was particularly worried about operating costs for a bigger building. Robert Staples, librarian, says he would like three more professional librarians, for a total of 12, and two or three more assistants. He now has 14. He also pointed out that changes in the telephone system, additional furnishings and maintenance would be among the necessities in an expanded library.

NO TIME FOR CHECKMATE: Trying out a hand-carved ivory chess set that has been donated to the auction at the Royal Fete for the Medical Center are from left, Colleen Hall, Ruth Block, Mary Ann Florence and Jean Parsons. They are auction solicitation chairmen and expect to be very busy collecting contributions between now and June 11, the date for the Fete.

In Its 11th Year. "There is a tremendous desire on the part of all of us to provide the space," the mayor said. "The library is well-used and is more than a library – it's a real contribution to the town as a community center. But costs are so high!"

The library was opened in December, 1966. Original plans suggested by the library's consultant, called for 35,000 square feet of space. Mr. Staples recalls that the Township Committee of that day held back, and the footage was reduced to 29,850.

"The consultant warned us - - 'you'll regret it in five years,' he said, and he was right," Mr. Staples says. The only way to add shelf space now, he has told his trustees, is to take over the second floor meeting room.

Thaddeus Longstreth, architect for the library, has said that it may be just as well the library hasn't yet started on a new addition. Advanced solar technology with its attendant economies, may be possible by the time the library goes ahead, he believes. For example, if the south wall of the children's room is removed for an enlarged room, presumably the new south wall could be a solar wall.

The present west wall, facing Witherspoon, has solar operated vents that close in the afternoon to shade the library's interior.

SOLICITATION BEGINS

For Royal Fete. The Queen's coffers are bare. The Royal Fete will be June 11, and auction chairmen Sarene Byrne and Margie Haber seek community help now to refill the auction treasury for the benefit of the Medical Center at Princeton.

The timing of their request coincides with that annual purge—spring cleaning—an ideal time to give away the stored silver gathering tarnish, unused furniture accumulating dust, or other articles outgrown, outmoded or unwanted.

Storage space is available now. Solicitation chairmen Ruth Block, 924-4322; Mary Ann Florence, 921-3826; Colleen Hall, 799-3908; and Jean Parsons, 921-1510, are ready to pick up contributions and to prepare tax deduction slips. They advise that there is great demand each year not only for household goods ranging from linens to appliances, but also for outdoor equipment, camping gear, mowers and boats. The only stipulation is that all contributions be in good condition and in working order.

The Lane of Shops has traditionally offered a wide array of temptations at the Fete. This year is no exception although old favorite booths have new and regal names. Co-chairmen Nancy Hofman and Wendy Hopper suggest that now is the time to gather up the family's unneeded clothing which is still in good condition, and all the unwanted jewelry, small silver pieces, beaded evening bags, mirrors and miniatures for donations to The Emperor's Old Clothes or The Crown Jewels booths.

Every manner of sewing, knitting and needlepoint notions is needed for Royal Remnants as well as bolts of materials, remnants and scraps. Area artists can expect a royal showcase for their work at the Emperor's Etchings. Almost every media can be displayed from paintings to pottery. Small and inexpensive, but unused items are needed for The Prince's Purse while the Jester's Junque will accept about anything from bric-a-brac to pet supplies, comic books to kitchenware.

For information on how to part with any of these treasures which will benefit The Royal Fete call Nancy Hofmann, 737-2053, or Wendy Hopper, 924-0947.

YWCA MARKS 60 YEARS

With Special Meeting. The YWCA is celebrating its 60th anniversary this year. A special evening is planned for members and friends Thursday, April 28, beginning at 6.

The YWCA originated as a club of 100 women during World War I, and has served the changing needs of women and girls ever since. Although it began as a Christian evangelical movement, the current participation of 13,241 women and girls reflects a diversity of racial and ethnic backgrounds. As a part of a national and world-wide organization concerned with human rights, the YWCA has identified and affected change when these rights were denied within our community.

The Annual Membership Meeting on April 28 will be preceded by a social hour and old-fashioned picnic supper. Following the brief meeting and elections, highlights of the YWCA's history will be presented in song and dialogue. Reservations may be made by calling the YWCA, 924-4825, Ext. 23 on or before Friday.

CONCERT SATURDAY

To Honor Paul Robeson. "A Celebration of the Life of Paul Robeson" will be held Saturday, beginning with a wine and cheese reception and culminating in a concert in the University Chapel in which six groups and a local baritone will perform.

The present officers of the Paul Robeson Memorial Association will host the wine and cheese reception at noon in McLean House next to Nassau Presbyterian Church on the University campus. Among those attending will be Mayors Robert Cawley and Josie Hall.

At the chapel, a plaque honoring Paul Robeson will be given to the community of Princeton by a representative of The Association for the Study of Afro-American Life and History. The plaques are being given to communities throughout the United States by the Association and are funded by grant from Amoco Oil.

The celebration concert in the University Chapel will feature the baritone voice of Floyd Phox, frequent soloist at the First Baptist Church, and music by the United Voices of Princeton, Movements of Time of Princeton, the Princeton University Gospel Choir, the Witherspoon Street Presbyterian Church Choir, the St. John United Methodist Church Choir of Bridgeton and the New Movement of Brooklyn, N.Y.

A collection will be taken for the statue fund. It is hoped to raise $400 for a statue which the Princeton sculptor Joe Brown has been commissioned to create. Dean Ernest Gordon and the Rev. Ernest Walker of the Association of Black Seminarians will lead the tribute. The public is encouraged to attend.

TENANTS, LANDLORDS

In Rent Survey. A telephone survey, sampling landlords and tenants in the Borough to find fact and opinion, will probably be made in the next few weeks, Borough Mayor Robert W. Cawley announced this week.

The Borough will also undertake to analyze its own rental files, using former rent co-ordinator Wayne Ribbons for the job, the mayor said.

The mayor said the municipality had been advised by real estate agents to declare an amnesty on illegal conversions of single-family homes to multi-family homes. Such conversions are usually infractions of the zoning law.

(Municipal attorney Gordon Griffin, asked for an opinion, said Council might pass an ordinance declaring that these conversions, if made prior to a certain date, would henceforth be legal, provided the owners register them, as the owners of legal apartments do. An ordinance would be preferable to administrative fiat, he said.)

The existence of illegal and therefore unregistered units, means it's difficult to get an accurate count of the number of apartments or single rented rooms.

Housing Units Cost. "The realtors told us of one building that changed hands," the mayor said. The new buyers didn't want the zoning hassle, so they simply converted it back to single-family use.

Real estate agents have also suggested the Borough examine the Township's "flat" ordinance. (This ordinance allows home-owners to convert part of a house into a flat, which is different from an apartment, according to Township definition, because it does not have a separate door. Only owner-occupied houses are allowed to have flats.)

"It's hard to get hard data," the mayor observed, commenting on the forthcoming survey, "we want to know what tenants think is most important – the level of rent, or upkeep of the building. How many rents are now at the maximum? One landlord told me he isn't renting one unit because the allowed rent is too low, but he's renting others. All we seem to have is fragmented facts!"

Open Fires Prohibited

"With spring here, I realize a lot of people are doing a lot of cleaning up."

"But," emphasized Chief Frederick Porter, "I want to remind residents that it is against state law to engage in open burning." The New Jersey air pollution code, he said, prohibits open burning of refuse, garbage, tree branches, leaves, yard trimmings, grass, weeds and crops.

To do any open burning, a permit must first be obtained from the Department of Environmental Protection in Trenton. Any such fire, warned Chief Porter, is a direct violation of the air pollution code and offenders can be issued summonses and ordered to appear in court.

WINS PULITZER

For Broadway Play. Michael Cristofer, an actor and playwright whose parents moved to Princeton six years ago has won the 1977 Pulitzer Prize for drama with his play "The Shadow Box."

Mr. Cristofer, 29, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Procaccino of Galbreath Drive East. He dropped his last name at a time when he didn't think it was doing him any good as an actor, according to a telephone interview with his father.

This season he has appeared in New York as an actor in Andre Serban's production of "The Cherry Orchard" and opened "The Shadow Box" March 31 at the Morosco Theater to critical acclaim. He has also just completed televising an episode in "The Andros Targets" which will be aired in May as the last of that show's season.

"The Shadow Box" is one of four of Mr. Cristofer's plays to be produced, but the first to reach Broadway. It deals with four terminally ill patients in a nursing home, not traditionally good box-office subject matter but does so with humor and affirmation that the critics found both funny and moving. The play did so well at the Mark Taper Forum in Los Angeles where it won the 1976 Los Angeles Drama Critics Award, and then last fall at the Long Wharf in New Haven, Conn., that the producers brought it into New York.

Mr. Cristofer, who now lives in California, grew up in Hamilton Township and graduated from Notre Dame High School in Lawrenceville before attending Catholic University in Washington, D.C. His other plays include "Mandella," "Americomedia," which was a satirical look at 200 years of American history produced by a street theater group for the Bicentennial, and "Ice" which was performed at the Mark Taper Forum last year and is set for New York next season.

HONORED: Anne D. Adriance, right, of 729 Prospect Avenue, received the Employee of the Year Merit Award at the Training School for Boys, Skillman, for 1976. Robert E. Mulcahy III, left, Commissioner of the Department of Corrections, made the presentation while George Adriance, her husband beamed approval. Mrs. Adriance also received the Educator of the Year Award newly created by the Garden State School District to recognize the efforts of an outstanding teacher from each of the nine correctional institutions in which it conducts educational programs.

SIX ARE FINED

In Traffic Court. Six Princeton area residents were fined Monday in Borough court by acting Judge Paul Shalita of Washington Township.

Austin R. Erlich, 41 Littlebrook Road, and William Greenberg, 16 Hunt Drive, were fined $20 and $17 for speeding. The same violation cost Harold Breen of Lawrenceville, $35.

James J. Petrozzini, 12 Euclid Avenue, Kingston, paid $20 for a red light violation, while Michael Lawrence of 46 Park Place paid two fines: $20 for improper display of plates and $20 for late inspection.

Conception Rodriguez-Rodriguez, Red Oak Row, was fined $20 for careless driving on a moped. A drunk driving charge against him was deferred until May 25 by Judge Shalita because of a change in the statutes.

It's No Longer 'Row, Row, Row Your Boat' But 'Paddle, Paddle Your Concrete Canoe'

Lake Carnegie will be the scene on Saturday of the first Princeton Eastern Invitational Concrete Canoe Race.

At least 20 colleges and universities from as far west as Ohio are expected to participate in what its sponsors hope will become an annual rite of spring here.

The event will get underway at 9:30 in the vicinity of the parking area off Faculty Road, just east of the Washington Road bridge, and will last through the afternoon. Entertainment and refreshments will be provided; the public is invited.

Sponsored by the Princeton undergraduate chapter of the American Society of Civil Engineers (ASCE) and the School of Engineering and Applied Science, the contest will include a design and construction competition and four racing categories–men's, women's, mixed and faculty.

"Our purpose is to provide a fun activity revolving around engineering which can be enjoyed by all members of the Princeton University community and town residents," says Robert M. Schaefer, the assistant dean of the Engineering School who has helped in planning the project.

How to Build One. The event has a pedagogical purpose as well. according to William A. Hazel Jr., the 20-year-old junior from Broad Run, Va. who with several hundred other undergraduates at Princeton and other universities has been busy since last semester organizing the race. Designing and building a concrete canoe is an object lesson in construction methods, fluid dynamics and the versalitily of concrete–"an amazing material in terms of what you do with it," says Hazel.

Participating teams must construct a concrete canoe involving a minimum 75 man-hours (or woman-hours, since at least 34 of the 90 individuals expected to compete are female) and a capital expense of approximately $250 per vessel. Princeton plans to enter two canoes, to be funded by the Civil Engineering Department. The contestants will race a 400-meter course.

Before being allowed to compete, each canoe must pass a buoyancy test. which includes floating when filled with water. To anyone whose experience with concrete is limited to sidewalks, this may sound like an impossibility.

Concrete is composed of cement and an "aggregate," according to Hazel; usually this is some sort of rock, although light-weight material such as styrofoam can be substituted that will make the concrete much lighter and more suitable for canoe construction. Full-size concrete ships, in fact, were built experimentally during World War II.

In constructing a concrete canoe, wooden templates are cut out and wire mesh stretched over them. Then the concrete is either caked or sprayed onto the mesh which forms the framework. Concrete canoes usually weigh about 170 to 180 pounds, says Hazel--not something you would want to portage any distance, but light enough to cover a 400-meter course in several minutes.

BREAK-INS REPORTED

By Township, Borough Police. Police in both Princeton communities reported break-ins last week.

Catharine Stetje-Larson of Lawrence Apartments, West Drive, told police that her apartment had been entered on Thursday between 11 a.m. and 3:15 p.m. Taken were a ring and cross valued at $550 and $7 in cash. There was no indication how the thief got inside, police said.

When Thomas D. Jones, 90 Bertrand Drive arrived home at 3:15 in the morning last week, he discovered his house had been entered. As he was checking outside, he heard someone in the driveway, police said.

A sliding glass door to a den had been forced to gain entry but police report that it hasn't been determined what is missing. "Possibly the perpetrator was scared off," Chief Frederick Porter said. Det. Samuel Bianco is continuing the investigation.

In the Borough, a Palmer Square resident lost a $600 35mm camera and lens and a gold-plated pocket watch and wristwatch.

Police report the victim's apartment was entered between 7:15 and 8:30 Friday morning but there was no forced entry. Lt. John J. Bellow and Ptl. William Hunter investigated.

A screen was forced sometime Thursday to enter a Prospect Avenue apartment.

Taken from a study were a camera, calculator and man's watch. Their combined value: $627. Ptl. Robert Mussiarelli investigated.

GARAGE SALE PLANNED

At Shopping Center. The Princeton Shopping Center will hold its 2nd Annual Garage Sale Saturday from 10 to 5 on the mall. Rain date is the following Saturday.

As an added attraction "The Buffalo Gals," an all female Bluegrass band, will provide entertainment. Members of the community are encouraged to bring housewares or other items from spring cleaning and display them on tables set up in the mall. No dealers will be allowed, and merchants from the Center stores will be displaying their merchandise as well.

Halloween in April

One would almost think it was Mischief Night.

A car driven by a Princeton resident was pelted witb eggs one night last week on Cleveland Lane, and a Pennsylvania resident told police the right rear window of his car was smashed by a rock Sunday evening while he was driving on Wiggins near Witherspoon.

A glass front door at Woolworth's on Nassau Street cracked Thursday evening when it was kicked by an eight-year old Trenton youth. It was reported by his nine-year old companion, who called police.

"They're getting younger all the time," commented Chief Michael Carnevale.

Sister Garson has been at Stuart for six years, serving first as Curriculum Director in 1972-73 and then as Headmistress from 1973-77. Under her guidance Stuart has successfully completed a three-year Capital Campaign, "A Commitment to the Future." The drive has realized a significant growth in the quasi-endowment fund for scholarships and financial aid; has provided for the construction of a second playing field, the renovation of the upper school science rooms, a newly equipped photography laboratory, and the installation of a lower school cooking unit; and has made possible the diversification of the upper school English program and an expansion of the guidance program.

In Rome Sister Garson will be one of four Councillors, and the only American, under the Superior General, who will be responsible for governing the Society of the Sacred Heart. The Board of Trustees and an interview committee with parent and faculty representatives have begun the search for a replacement.

CAR HITS TWO TREES

Three Are Injured. Three passengers were injured Saturday night when a car driven by LeLand R. Cromwell, 19, of Bound Brook, failed to make a curve on Route 206 South near Edgerstoune.

Mr. Cromwell's car was totalled when it went off the road and struck two trees. He refused treatment and was ticketed by Ptl. Robert Nielsen for careless driving.

Given first aid at the scene by a Hamilton Township doctor before being removed to Princeton Medical Center were Kerry Lambiase, 19, who sustained a laceration to his eye; Eileen Lubasco, 25, who received contusions and abrasions; and Raymond Vignati, 21, who complained of pain over his entire body.

ALUMNI DAY SET

At Princeton Day School. Alumni of Miss Fine's School, Princeton Country Day School and Princeton Day School will gather on the PDS campus on Sunday, April 24, for the sixth annual Alumni Day. They will represent classes from 1915 to 1976.

This year's Alumni Day will feature the opening, from 2:30 to 5 p.m., of the school's Eighth Visual Arts Festival. Students' work will be on exhibit throughout the school, and there will be student demonstrations of fine arts, crafts, photography and industrial arts in all of the art studios.

The Alumni Association will hold its annual meeting during lunch. President Jean Shaw Byrne '61 will preside and nominating committee chairman Sally Stewart Gilbert '65 will present the slate of council representatives for the class of 1980: Edwin H. Metcalf '51, Patrick Rulon-Miller '55, Candace L. Boyajian '69 and Susan Denise Harris '69.

Following lunch, the group will be entertained by the Madrigal singers and by members of the cast of the school's winter musical, "Anything Goes." Tennis, softball and various other sports will be available for alumni during the afternoon.

TWO MORE FIELD FIRES

And One Car Fire. Police and firemen responded to three more fires in the Township last week, the eighth in that community in the past two weeks.

A fire destroyed a 1975 model car Saturday evening in the parking area of the Magee housing complex off Faculty Road. Owner Benjamin M. Gimarc, 7M Magee, told police that the car backfired when he tried to start it. He and his wife fled for safety when they saw flames at the rear of the seat from the engine area.

Ptl. David Potts, responding to an 8:35 call, found the car fully engulfed in flames. After firemen from all three Princeton companies tried unsuccessfully for 20 minutes to extinguish the flames, Engine No. 3 Chief Ted Kopp requested a tow truck to come and flip the burning car over so the flames could be put out at their source.

At 1:22 Sunday afternoon, eight firemen responded to a call for a fire in a wooded area on the A.D. Russell property on Edgerstoune Road.

Ptl. Peter Savalli, who was first on the scene, saw a wooded area comprising approximately 15,000 square feet and a 15-by-10-foot wooden structure on fire. It was brought under control in less than 15 minutes.

Police said the fire was started by an unknown source. A check with area residents revealed that no one was seen in the area at the time.

Ptl. Savalli also responded to a call from William F. Coursen, 495 Princeton-Kingston Road, at 12:04 p.m. Saturday for a field fire near Riverside School. Approximately 20,000 square feet of burning grass and brush was extinguished by firemen from Hook and Ladder.

Mr. Coursen told police that his son was raking leaves and he accidentally discarded a cigarette into the pile, starting a fire. He tried to put it out but the flames got out of control.

BOOK SALE OPENS

In Borough Gym. Some 120,000 books went on sale at the Borough Hall gym when the Bryn Mawr Book Sale opened at noon. The sale lasts until noon Saturday, the doors closing at 9 each night and reopening at 9 a.m. Friday the books go for half-price, Saturday for $1 per carton.

This is the 46th consecutive year in which alumnae of Bryn Mawr College living in and around Princeton have conducted a book sale to raise scholarship money for local girls attending Bryn Mawr. The sale now produces enough money to provide four to six substantial scholarships a year.

CHILDREN'S TOUR SET

Of Clarke House. The Arts Council has organized a special tour of the Thomas Clarke House for children ages four to eight on Thursday, April 28, at 3:30. The Clarke House is the 18th century farmhouse located behind the Princeton Battlefield where Col. Mercer was nursed after the battle in 1777.

Deedee Bowman, the Clarke House resident interpreter will show the children through the farmhouse and talk about what life was like for children in Princeton during the 1700's. There will be a demonstration of spinning on the large spinning wheel upstairs, and Dudley Carlson, the children's librarian at the Public Library, will read "Rumplestiltskin."

Because the rooms at Clarke House are small, Mrs. Bowman has suggested that the tour be limited to 24 children who will be divided into groups. A reservation list is posted at the children's desk at the Public Library on which to sign up.

FRISBEE GAME TARGET

Of Car. Armed with a description of the car, Borough police are continuing their investigation of an incident Monday night in which a car allegedly tried to run down some Westminster Choir College students as they were tossing a Frisbee around in a Princeton High School parking lot.

According to police, the car drove through the lot around 10 p.m., aiming at the students. An occupant reached out with a bumper jack handle and struck one of the students, causing minor contusions and abrasions.

Drewry, assistant dean of the college and associate professor of English at Princeton University, will give a program, "Staged Readings from Fiction."

Dr. Drewry, who was chairman of the Afro-American Studies Program while on the faculty of Douglass College, Rutgers University, has performed at Carl Fisher Hall and the American Negro College Theatre in New York and has given one woman shows at McCarter Theatre and throughout the East. The day long trip, scheduled to leave the Association Headquarters at 8 a.m. will be led by Dr. Silas Little, Research Forester who has been engaged in research on the Pine Barrens for many years. Only 40 spaces are available, and reservations may be made by writing the Watersheds Association, P.O. Box 171, Pennington. Tickets for the tour are $10 for members and $12.50 for non-members.

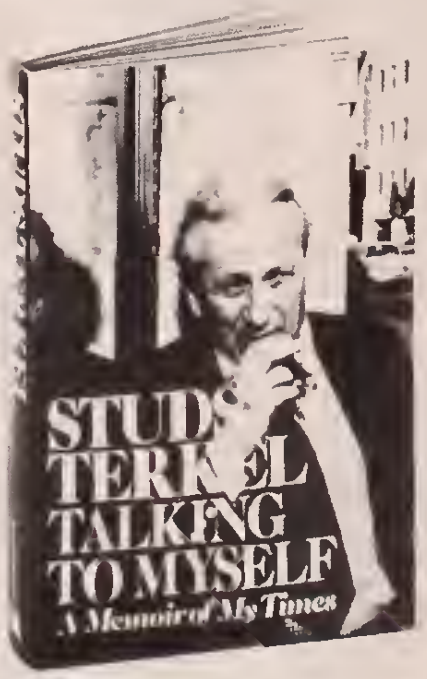
SPRING READING

from RANDOM HOUSE, INC.

Of all the personal accounts of Hollywood and Broadway in their great and terrible days, "Haywire" may be the most remarkable–because it is the most true.



In "Talking to Myself," Studs Terkel has deliberately kept away from some of the traditional areas of autobiography. He has, instead, told the story of a man whose life has been so varied that its retelling becomes an astonishingly evocative story of our time. Here is our world, from the twenties to the present, seen by a man who has mirrored a thousand lives, reflected us all.

Sen. Martindell Will Leave State Legislature To Run Office of Foreign Disaster Assistance

State Senator Anoe C. Martindell, (D-14th District) announced this week that she has accepted a position with the Carter Administration, and therefore will not run for re-election.

She will be Director of the Office of U.S. Foreign Disaster Assistance which is a part of the Agency for International Development. This office is responsible for coordinating disaster relief efforts throughout the world, such as earthquakes, floods and fires. She is expected to assume her duties next month.

Mrs. Martindell, whose home is at 1 Battle Road, had the following comments on her three years in the State Legislature:

"It has been a great privilege to serve the people of the 14th District. I am proud to have helped to bring about some changes that will be of benefit to them. I think that the Legislature and the Administration have accomplished a great deal in these years for the people of my district and for the State.

"For the first time in its history, New Jersey has made a great step toward a sound and fair system of taxation. It took a tremendous fight to bring this about.

"Already, it is clear that those of us who supported an equitable income tax based on ability to pay, combined with property tax relief, were correct when we said that the burden of taxation would be much more fairly distributed under the law that is now in effect. It would be both tragic and absurd if the income tax was not re-enacted, as some candidates for Governor are threatening.

"This State would have to go back to the old hodgepodge nuisance taxes, favoring the privileged. The important result of the new tax law, apart from its basic fairness to all is that it has put our educational system on a solid basis. For the first time, it is possible for the people of all our communities to have a serious say in how their schools are organized and to do this on a rational basis with time to plan for the future. It will be unfortunate if the people allow the old chaos to return, with the tax base for the school system resting again on the shifting sands of property rates and valuations.

"I would suggest to my constituents, who are quite representative of the people of New Jersey, that in voting for my successor they look for certain signs which, I think will tell them whether those who seek their support are courageous and independent enough to act for their real interests.

"I have already discussed tax policy as one measure. There are other issues with emotional appeal but bad and diversionary policy effects. One of them is the death penalty, which is often shouted for by politicians who will not seriously consider reforming the penal code or other measures to improve the general conditions of society which breed crime. Another is the matter of equal access by all to medical treatment authorized by law, which would be denied by the zealots of the "right-to-life" movement as they attempt to impose their standards on society.

I hope that my successor will push legislation to deal with an increasingly inflationary economic situation and work to keep our environment healthy."

Princetonian Mentioned

Following Sen. Martindell's announcement that she will not be a candidate for re-election this fall, Democrats have mentioned Peter J. Bearse of 110 Leigh Avenue as a possible candidate for State Senator on the party ticket. Mr. Bearse, who is associate director of the Center for New Jersey Affairs at Princeton University, has previously expressed an interest in seeking a seat in the State Assembly.

CHINESE AUCTION MAY 6

To Benefit Deborah Hospital. The Princeton Chapter of Deborah Heart and Lung Center will hold its third annual Chinese Auction Friday, May 6, at 8 in the Elks Club on Route 518 and the Great Road in Blawenburg. Admission at $1.25 will include a dessert buffet, and tickets may be purchased at the door or by calling Jeanne Schechter, 924-6637.

Deborah Heart and Lung Center is a hospital in Browns Mills engaged in the care and treatment of disease of the heart and lungs (medical and surgical). Patients with heart ailments requiring open and closed heart surgery and lung conditions such as emphysema, tuberculosis, asthma, operable lung cancer and lung tumors receive specialized treatment. A complete emphysema unit, the first of its kind in the East, has been established.

Because of a 26-week backlog for admittance due to the demand for Deborah's services, an expansion program involving a five year plan and a $14 million investment has been authorized. The expansion will serve heart patients. All proceeds from the Auction will go toward the expansion program.

A FIREMAN'S PIPE. Whatever your interest, pipe carver Tom Arcoleo can custom design a pipe to match it. Here, seated before a choice of tobacco blends, he holds a Bubinga pipe modeled after the firehat on his lap.

CUSTOM PIPES

From Tom Pipecarver. "Pipe smokers do more than just smoke. They fondle the pipe, feel it, smoke it and smell it--everything but listen to it," said Tom Arcoleo.

Naturally, Mr. Arcoleo is a pipe smoker, but more importantly he is a pipe carver, who just recently has opened a retail store on Alexander Street.

His pipes are unique not only because of their beautiful free-form designs, but also because they are made of Bubinga wood. He said, "I alwaya wondered with the 10,000 species of wood in the world why pipes were made of Briar. As a hobby I tried all kinds of woods, even broom handles. Then a few years ago a friend gave me a piece of Bubinga and said, 'Here pipe nut, make a pipe.'"

He did and discovered that this West African wood had the perfect properties for a great amoke -- hard, heat resistant and no taste of its own. It la also porous which permits the heat to escape through the bowl, giving a cool smoke.

Hobby Becomes Business. Then five years ago when Mr. Arcoleo, an engineer, was asked to relocate in Alabama, this hobby became a business. He liked the area too much, and thus decided to remain and develop his own business, pioneering Bubinga under the name Princeton Pipes USA.

This, however, was a wholesale operation and now he is trying to enter the retail field as Tom Pipecarver. The work itself is fascinating as he carves each pipe right in his store, with equipment he has built himself.

Very simply, he cuts a basic silhouette (based on traditional pipe designs) from a piece of kiln dried Bubinga wood, puts the hole through and then using some of his dozen different cutting shapes and tools he carves the sculptured lines and textures he wants.

carving, said Mr. Arcoleo, "to see how close you can get to the hole without getting too close." Later the wood is finished and the stems (having been smoothed and polished) inserted. We found it interesting that the open ends are textured and black to give the pipe a used, natural look.

The day we visited there was a box of finished pipes representing months of work. Each has been sculptured to fit the hand, some for left-handed smokers too, and they are quite lovely with the grain of the wood and curves working together.

Most of the pipes are unique free-form designs because Mr. Arcoleo says, "I don't try to do what machines can do better." However, he will do custom pipes and is currently working on one of a horse's head. In fact, he says, "If you don't like what we've made, we'll make what you do like."

Dream Design. His ultimate dream design is a cornucopia, and he also has plans to make a lady Bubinga for the "frustrated closet smoker." His free form pipes are $30 each, although this is the price here as those wholesaled elsewhere will be higher.

Tom Pipecarver also has a choice of about two dozen tobaccos, both commerical and private blends. There is an excellent English mixture and a Dutch Cavendish that Mr Arcoleo says, "I could never improve on," but then with others he has put in some unusual additives for a new blend. For instance, there is Bassa Dyga flavored with annisette which Mr. Arcoleo says does "as much for tobacco as it does for coffee."

He says he can make a blend to suit any taste, if you can put into words what you want. The tobacco and casing is all determined by the grower, but the tobacconist's art comes into play with the flavor additives and the only limit is your imagination.

All the blends here are priced at $1 for two ounces and $7 a pound. While they don't all cost exactly the same, Mr. Arcoleo perfers this system because it leaves the smoker free to choose without any price concerns.

Located at 306 Alexander Street, next to the Loft Gallery, Tom Pipecarver is open Monday through Saturday from 8 until 6.

PLAY AND LEARN

With RCA Televisloo Programmer. Ever since those electronic television games first popped up at boardwalk arcades, people have spent countless hours twirling the dials in games of Pong, tennis, hockey, etc.

It wasn't long before companies fouod a way to bring them into the home through the use of the television set, and for parents who feel their children are wasting too much time playing this mindless diversion, RCA has gone a step further.

Its entry into the video game field is a combination electronic game and educational device, which can be programmed to reproduce games and instructional material on the screen of any size black-and-white or color TV set. Called, "Studio II," it's now available at the Princeton University Store.

Heart of the RCA programmer is one of the company's new COSMAC microprocessors. This tiny electronic component is often called a "computer-on-a-chip" since it contains more than 6,000 transistors and can perform complex calculations in millionths of a second.

This home TV programmer has five games built into its control console, and provision for add-on cartridges containing other games and educational programs. These cartridges, which are inserted into a slot in the console, will be offered initially in three series: TV School House, TV Arcade and TV Casino.

The five games built into the console are bowling, freeway

(car racing), patterns, and doodles and a competitive math game.

RCA's add-on cartridges for the TV programmer use semiconductor memories. The initial cartridges are called: TV School House 1, Space War and Fun-With-Numbers. TV School House features tests at various educational levels on subjects including social studies, math and other subjects. Space War includes two missile target games. Fun-With-Numbers includes three mathematical exercises and puzzles.

Studio II consists of a control console which is connected to the antenna terminals of a TV set through a switch, used to select regular TV or to turn on Studio II. The front panel of the console contains two keyboards for the players, similar to the numbered push buttons on touch-type telephones. With these keyboards, participants feed their decisions into a miniature computer.

The University Store is selling Studio II for $149.95. The Space War and Fun-With-Numbers cartridges are priced at $14.95 each, while TV School House will sell for $19.95. The store has a demonstration model in operation.

One word of warning for those who purchase Studio II. Be careful who you challenge to a game. Its concept and logic was developed right here at RCA Laboratories on Route One. You may end up playing someone who helped design it.

PEOPLE In The News

Seven senior members of the Princeton University faculty have been appointed to endowed professorships, President William G. Bowen has announced. The appointments were approved by the University's Board of Trustees at its annual spring meeting.

Jacques R. Fresco has been designated the Damon B. Pfeiffer Professor in the Life Sciences. A member of the faculty since 1960 and chairman of the Department of Biochemical Sciences since 1974, he was recently appointed to the newly formed Scientific Advisory Committee of the Cancer Institute of New Jersey.

Named Kennedy Foundation Professor in Latin Language and Literature is T. James Luce, chairman of the Classics department and Latin Scribe of the University. A 1954 graduate of Hamilton College, Prof. Luce received his Ph.D. from Princeton in 1958 and joined the faculty that year.

Professor of English Samuel Hynes, who joined the faculty last year, has been named Woodrow Wilson Professor of Literature. Prof. Hynes served on the faculties of Swarthmore and Northwestern before coming to Princeton.

A. Walton Litz Jr. '51, who has been chairman of the Department of English since 1974, has been designated Holmes Professor of Belles-Lettres. Prof. Litz served as chairman of the Council of the Humanities from 1971 until 1974 and has held the William and Annie S. Paton Foundation chair for Ancient and Modern Literature for the last five years. He joined the faculty in 1956 after studying at Oxford as a Rhodes Scholar and serving for two years with U.S. Army Intelligence.

Theodore R. Weiss has been named next incumbent of the William and Annie S. Paton Foundation chair. Weiss, who is professor of English and creative writing and a senior fellow of the Council of the Humanities, has been editor of the Quarterly Review of Literature for the past 34 years. He joined the faculty here in 1966.

Marvin L. Goldberger has been named to the Joseph Henry Professorship in Physics, the University's oldest endowed chair. Prof. Goldberger has held a Eugene Higgins Professorship in Theoretical Physics since 1957, when he joined the faculty here after seven years at the University of Chicago. A nuclear physicist with the Manhattan Project during World War II, Prof. Goldberger has centered his research in recent years on problems of high-energy physics and applying physics fundamentals to environmental problems. He was chairman of his department from 1970 to 1976 and is a member of the Institute for Advanced Study.

Sam B. Treiman will succeed Prof. Goldberger as Eugene Higgins Professor. A theoretical physicist, specializing in field theory, elementary particles, and cosmic rays, he has been a member of the faculty since 1952.

master Thomas Woodward Jr. has been nominated to serve a two year term on the executive board; Kathy Otera is a member of the executive board and annual meeting committee, and Ron MacLeod is a teacher representative.

From Chapin School, Mrs. Charlotte Kanavel, headmistress, has been nominated secretary of the executive board; Mrs. Nora Greenblatt will lead a workshop on "Music is Fun"; Mrs. Elizabeth Robinson is a member of the executive board, teacher representative, and annual meeting committee member; Bruce Delventhal, co-chairman of the Book Exhibit, has been a member of the annual meeting committee as has Dan Helter who also is a teacher representative.

Mrs. Marie Clark is teacher representative for the Boychoir School of Princeton and William Seers, former faculty member, served on the annual meeting committee.

Two Princeton area residents have been promoted at the U.S. Air Force Academy. Cadet Robert J. Bartolone, son of Mr. and Mrs. Stephen P. Bartolone of 3396 Brunswick Pike, has been promoted to the rank of cadet major and appointed a squadron executive officer. A member of the class of 1977, he is a 1972 graduate of Hamilton High School West in Trenton.

Oskar Morgenstern of 94 Library Place, professor emeritus of Princeton University, will be honored at a ceremony at New York University on Thursday, when the Oskar Morgenstern Research Professorship in Mathematical Economics and Game Theory will be officially announced. Upon Prof. Morgenstern's retirement in 1970 after 32 years of teaching at Princeton University, he joined the faculty of New York University, Washington Square, and soon after founded the Center for Applied Economics there. Recently the New York University Press published "Selected Economic Writings of Oskar Morgenstern."

In January of this year, his 75th birthday was the occasion for the presentation of a "Festschrift" with papers written by 63 scholars from all over the world. A similar volume was presented to him on his 65th birthday. Prof. Morgenstern will be the first to hold the endowed chair.

Nancy F. Jacobs, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Foster Jacobs, former Princeton residents now living in South Dartmouth, Mass., adapted T. H. White's "The Sword and The Stone" for puppet theater and produced and directed five 90-minute performances at Mount Holyoke College as her senior honors project. In addition to writing the script which is based on the Arthurian legends, Miss Jacobs constructed each of the 23 marionettes and puppets in her cast, designed and sewed all the costumes after careful research into the period and built the 8 x 11 foot stage on which they perform.

Miss Jacobs attended Nassau Street school from second grade and graduated from Princeton High School. Her interest in puppetry stems from early backyard shows for the neighbor's children and staging a longer show as a requirement for her Girl Scout puppetry badge at age 10. A theatre arts major and a member of the Puppeteers of America, she would like to work for a professional puppeteer and possibly start a small theater of her own in the future.

NET 5 CENTS LOWER

For First Quarter at UJB. Edward A. Jesser, Jr., chairman of United Jersey Banks, has reported income before securities transactions for the 1977 first quarter of 35 cents per share, an improvement over the 34 cents per share earned in the 1976 fourth quarter, but a decline from the corresponding period of a year ago. First National Bank of Princeton is a member of this Princeton-based holding company.

Income before securities transactions was $1,870,000 or 35 cents per share for the first quarter ended March 31, 1977, compared with the $2,272,000 or 42 cents per share earned in the like period of 1976. Net income, after gains of $148,000 from securities transactions, was $2,018,000 or 38 cents per share for the first three months of 1977, against $2,336,000 or 43 cents per share reported in the 1976 first quarter.

Mr. Jesser said earnings for the 1977 first quarter did not reach the level of a year ago because of continued soft loan demand in the business sector, lower interest rates earned on loans and investments, and higher provisions to the reserve for loan losses. Retail savings deposits continue to grow, increasing $48,243,000 during the quarter, and were $121,691,000 higher than the year-ago figure.

INCOME RISE REPORTED

By Horizon Bancorp. Horizon Bancorp has reported an increase in earnings for the first quarter ended March 31. Princeton Bank and Trust is a part of Horizon Bancorp.

Income before securities transactions for the first quarter of 1977 was $1,213,000 or 47 cents per common share compared to $1,002,000 or 38 cents per common share for 1976, an increase of 24 percent per share. Net income per common share after securities losses of $58,000 was 45 cents compared to 41 cents in 1976 after securities gains of $60,000.

Chamber Designates May as Its Month To Focus Spotlight on Its Activities

Special events during each week in May will mark a month-long celebration of "Chamber Month" by the Chamber of Commerce of the Princeton Area

The month's events will start off with a luncheon on Wednesday, May 4 featuring an analysis by the Delaware Valley Regional Planning Commission of alternative regional plans for the Delaware Valley – and what their impact would be by the year 2000.

"Chamber Month" will end May 27 when members of the Chamber will participate in the American Legion Memorial Day parade in Princeton, passing out U.S. flags to children along the parade route.

Other events each week will "illustrate the diversity that exists in the Chamber of Commerce", according to Martin P. Lombardo, Chairman of the "Chamber Month" Committee.

"The purpose," Mr. Lombardo said, "is to encourage citizens from all professions to join this organization."

He reported that as many new members joined the Princeton Chamber during the first three months of 1977, as during all of last year. National accreditation by the Chamber of Commerce of the United States was attained last year.

The beginning of Chamber of Commerce month will coincide with the 65th annual meeting of the National Chamber in Washington, D.C. Princeton's executive director Ellen Hodges, president Paul Chesebro, and Mr. Lombardo will attend the three-day meeting, billed as "a management seminar on the business of freedom."

In Princeton, America's first ballad opera, "The Disappointment," written in 1767 but never staged until last year, will be presented at McCarter Theatre Tuesday, May 10.

Other events on the May calendar are a student seminar at Princeton High School on the free enterprise system during the week of May 16, a reception for prospective members during the week of May 23, a leadership conference for Chamber volunteers on May 26, and a luncheon with Rep. Frank Thompson Jr., (D-N.J.,) on May 27.

Assisting Mr. Lombardo, who is a real-estate sales associate with John T. Henderson, are members of the membership committee:

Frank Clark, retired general secretary of the YMCA; Paul Chesebro, Foundation Managers, Inc.; Jim Fouss, Response Analysis Corporation; Ellen Hodges, Executive Director of the Princeton Chamber; Reeves Hicks, partner in the law firm of Cahill, McCarthy & Hicks; Joe Horsley, Princeton United Community Fund; John Lasley, Opinion Research Corp.; Al Merron, Merrill Lynch, Pierce, Fenner & Smith; Lou Ann Perry and George Stuphen, First National Bank of Central Jersey and Richard Sword, William Sword Co.

Members of the Princeton Chamber of Commerce include representatives from corporations, large and small businesses, non-profit corporations, individuals, and professionals in a wide variety of fields. Membership is open for all communities within the 14 municipalities served by the Chamber – the boroughs of Hightstown, Hopewell, Pennington, Princeton, and Rocky Hill, and the townships of Cranbury, East Windsor, Franklin, Hopewell, Lawrence, Montgomery, Plainsboro, Princeton, and West Windsor.

DIESEL MODEL ARRIVES

At Princeton Volkswagen. After all the talk it is here in Princeton — now.

The new Volkswagen Diesel Rabbit which has been certified by the Environmental Protection Agency at 52 miles per gallon on the highway and 39 miles per gallon in city driving is now available for anyone who wants to take a test drive at Princeton Volkswagen, Ltd. on Route 206, next to Princeton Airport.

Although the actual mileage may vary, based on the way each operator drives and maintains his car and the operational equipment he puts on it, Robert Feldman, president of Princeton Volkswagen, said that it should not be at great variance from the EPA numbers.

The Diesel Rabbit at Princeton VW is one of the first to arrive in this country, Mr. Feldman said.

NEW DIESEL IN TOWN: Robert Feldman, president of Princeton Volkswagen, Route 206, stands next to the new Volkswagen Diesel Rabbit which gets 52 miles per gallon on the highway.

NEW PAINT SHOP OPENS

On Witherspoon Street. Sam Lisi, who formerly operated the Sam Lisi Paint and Wallpaper Store at 266 Witherspoon Street, has opened a new shop in larger quarters at 337 Witherspoon for the greater convenience of his customers.

Now trading as the Tiger Paint and Wall Covering Center, Mr. Lisi has three times the space in his new store and off-street parking for eight cars. He carries a complete line of Glidden and Baltimore Paints, including Murphy, Merkin and Gleem; Minwax and Olympic stains and a new line called Rain Stain, an acrylic rust stain that is said to be rated number one in the country.

In addition he has all the rollers, brushes, applicators thinners and drop cloths that an amateur or professional painter might need, in addition to ladders of all sizes. During the last two weeks of April he is featuring a sale (20 percent off) on the complete line of Baltimore paints, interior as well as exterior, in gallon cans only. Colorful barbecue mitts will be given with each purchase.

Mr Lisi is also taking names for three give-away prizes in a drawing on April 30. First prize is a bicycle built for two; second, a Polaroid Pronto camera, and third, a kettle barbecue.

DEPARTMENT READY

For Car Radiator Repair. Roy Gobel, owner of Roy's Arco, 272 Alexander Street, has announced the opening of a new radiator repair department.

All testing, cleaning and repair equipment was purchased from Inland Manufacturing Co., Omaha, Nebr. Mr. Gobel recently returned from the Inland Factory School in Omaha.

Equipment in the new shop features the Flo-Tester, which quickly indicates if the radiator is plugged. This machine measures exactly the gallons-per-minute flow of water through the radiator, which is then compared with manufacturer's specifications for possible plugging.

GEORGIAN TOWNHOUSE

For forty years passersby have admired this lovely brick home gracing its corner setting and highlighted by a walled garden that grows more beautiful every year. Huge rhododendrons and an assortment of other handsome shrubbery hiding a path that winds from one end of the property to the other, formal sunken garden with box bushes and perennials, wisteria covered arbor, roses, groundcover, brick terrace and gorgeous old trees - it's all a joy.

Oh yes, the house! Lots of space - foyer, handsome living and dining rooms, good kitchen, 4 corner bedrooms, and a third floor playroom are all large. A cozy library, charming "garden room", laundry, three room maid's suite (potential apartment?) provide pleasant and/or practical room. Three fireplaces too! All in all, the house has much to please the eye and to make for happy family living. Offered at $235,000 might almost be a "maison" from the French countryside, with its white stucco, dark wood trim, rough plaster walls and exposed oak beams. Step down living room, cypress panelled library with second fireplace, dining room with built in cupboards, family room leading to a screen fenced brick patio. Three bedrooms, 2 baths, and a charming small apartment (with another bath) that can be reincorporated in the house.

Set back from the road on a natural, rockstrewn two and a half acres of woods. Un tres charmant Light Listing.

Asking $120,000

AN APPEALING HOUSE

on a beautiful lot, in the nicest part of town! That's 149 Westcott Road. Small - 3 bedrooms, 1½ baths, but with good sized living room, dining room and master bedroom - it is perfect for a couple or a one child family. Two fireplaces (one in the grade level family room), pretty brick terraces and mature landscaping. There aren't many like this. $110,000

THREE HEAVENLY ACRES

At least 28 kinds of trees - hardwood, specimen, evergreen and flowering - plus at least 10 flowering and 6 evergreen shrubs, plus bulbs, wildflowers and perennials backed by woods and trails to walk on - sound like Paradise? It is. Large living room with fireplace, nice dining room, superb eat-in kitchen, study-bedrooms, 2 more bedrooms, 2 baths and a lovely "garden room" with tile floor. 150 year old barn with adorable 3 room apartment for in-laws, teenagers, caretakers, or what you will. Solidly built, perfectly maintained. $125,000

WHAT IS SO RARE

as a house in the 80's in Princeton? We are the proud listers of one of three rarities, and a good one it is. Conveniently located for schools and shopping, and comfortably sized for family living (both in numbers and sizes of rooms), this 4 bedroom, 2½ bath, air-conditioned split level is waiting to be snapped up. $85,000

The charm of the old has been enhanced by the use of glass and interior fieldstone in the newer areas, no less than 4 fireplaces for warmth as well as eye-appeal, excellent condition, mature easy-care landscaping, and numerous extras are among the too-many-to-list pluses. Do see it!

ONE OF PRINCETON'S most gracious houses...Steadman-designed and moved from its original location to this lovely two acre lot with trees and formal gardens, not to mention more than 2 dozen exquisite holly trees, near Carnegie Lake, just over the Princeton line. A modern wing was incorporated in the 50's that blends in beautifully with the original! Mouldings, panelling, mantels, floors, all seem the same vintage. The original two parlours form to make a warm family room with high ceilings and fireplace, the new wing provides a formal living room with elegant marble fireplace, fixtures and windows. A master bedroom suite with full bath and doors to the patio is nearby. Of course, a formal dining room, and super family kitchen completes the first floor. Bedrooms upstairs are in separate wings with two and a full bath in one part, and three with two baths in another. All new wiring, heating, of course, and a barn-garage completes this almost perfect picture for the family who wants to live in Princeton for the convenience and an older house for its charm and character and your own potting shed, too! Offered at $197,500

WHEN LAWRENCEVILLE WAS MAIDENHEAD (C. 1750) Stately, gracious, comfortable. One of our area's outstanding landmarks. Stone and frame for durability, resting elegantly midst its gardens and trees. Live-in help quarters of 3 rooms and bath, too! The third story is a huge recreation room the entire length of the house! Vintage 1925 with all of today's amenities. Corner House Expanding Its Services to Aid Young People with Problems Other Than Drugs

WELCOME TO CORNER HOUSE: On the wall poster of the baby seal, it says, "Everybody needs somebody... sometime." That's the philosophy at Corner House (273 Witherspoon, corner of Henry) where young adults and adolescents "can talk with people who don't judge, people who know how to listen." Here, at a staff conference, are Interne Saul Salkin, Art Kolbjornsen, Jan Kouzes and director Nancy White.

"What do I expect when I meet somebody? If I tell them who I really am, will they be as scared as I am?"

Adolescent adjustment problems, the things that can really scare you when you're between 14 and your late 20s, are the problems that lose their sharp and threatening corners at Corner House.

Yes, Corner House is still right there if you have a drug abuse problem. That's why it was established, almost five years ago, in the comfortable house on the corner of Witherspoon and Henry.

"But we're much broader now," says Nancy White, Corner House director. "We focus on the high school student and young adults who have other problems than drugs."

What "other problems?"

Art Kolbjornsen and Jan Kouzes, young therapists, have been talking each week since September with a group of eight or nine young people, men and women, from 21 to 33 years of age.

Not necessarily these particular people, but people like them will have trouble with uncontrollable rage, depression, family conflict, anger toward parents.

"I sometimes think Princeton is the end of the line for the American dream," says Art with a wry smile. "In this town, it's no longer possible to do better than mommie and daddie did. You get kids who say, 'To hell with you, if you think I'm going to get a PhD and be like you'"

Younger Alcoholics. Anxiety problems...a youth will often choose a drug to mellow them out. Alcoholism—and Corner House is finding alcoholics younger and younger--often has a long history of repressed feelings.

The way you act on drugs or alcohol, by the way, is often a clue to your problem, Art and Jan have discovered. The youth who becomes enraged on drugs may well have anger as his chief devil.

Within the group Art and Jan meet each week are three former drug-abusers and others in various situations regarding adult or adolescent adjustment. The two counsellors do not talk about individuals in their group, but broadly speaking, they say that the group's members are confronting questions like:

"Who am I, without my family?"

"What emotional legacy do I have from my family and what do I want to do with it?"

"It is clearly visible to us and to them, that they've been helped," Art says with quiet emphasis. "Everyone now is IN the group, with an emotional investment in the group, a willingness to risk self-disclosure, to risk telling things they'd otherwise choose not to have known, owning up to their feelings."

They have stayed in the group. No drop-outs. For some, sessions are the high spot of the week. In background and present way of life, the members range from people on welfare to young professionals.

Group Experience Helpful. They are in the group because the counsellors feel that individual counselling isn't quite enough, and a group would be helpful because these people lack in-depth personal relationships.

"Support--and confrontation. Both are helpful. It's a supportive kind of experience," Jan has found.

Incidentally, all members of this group and one other like it, are white. Mrs. White and her staff have a concern about reaching young black residents of the community. Corner House has a black "outreach counsellor" who has a group of about 20, meeting outside Corner House, but dropping by now and then.

What is the difference, then, between Corner House and Family Service, Child Guidance, Trinity Counselling?

"Our focus is on the older adolescent," Mrs. White says promptly. "We don't feel we're treading on Family Service's toes. They refer

News Of The THEATRES

"LOOSE ENDS"

Blue-Collar Dreams. "Loose Ends," a low-budget, independently - made American film by David Burton Morris and Victoria Wozniak, will be next in the Movies-at-McCarter series, scheduled for showing Monday and Tuesday, April 25 and 26 at 10 McCosh Hall on the Princeton University campus, with two showings each evening at 7 and 9 p.m.

Morris and Wozniak made "Loose Ends" in Minneapolis, on a shoestring budget of $12,500. It is a story of the frustration, boredom and escapist fantasies of two young men who work in a garage. Billy (Chris Mulkey) is divorced and living alone with few outlets for his energy. He badgers Eddie (John Jenkins) to shoot pool, drink beer, and "hang out" with him. Eddie, married with one child and another on the way, is torn between his sense of obligation to his family, and his feeling of being trapped in an unrewarding life.

The frustrations of all three characters – Billy, Eddie, and Eddie's wife – build until the two buddies take off on the road in a futile attempt to find a new and more exciting life further west. Critics have commented that the two young filmmakers portray the dreams and aspirations of their blue-collar characters without patronizing them, and noted that "Loose Ends" manages to avoid over-statement and easy recourse to cliche or flashy photographic techniques."

"TWELFTH NIGHT" SET

At Inn College. "Twelfth Night," the final performance of the Princeton Inn Shakespeare Players' 1976-77 season, will open Thursday at 8:30 in the Inn College Theatre, Alexander Street. This production of Shakespeare's comic masterpiece will run for six nights, Thursday, Friday and Saturday of this and the following weekend.

"Twelfth Night" is a colorful but complex blend of music, mistaken identities

The Princeton Area Premiere of

LOOSE ENDS

A Film By David Burton Morris &
Victoria Wozniak

Made in Minneapolis for only $12,500, LOOSE ENDS is a story of frustration, boredom and escapist fantasies on the part of two young blue-collar workers in a garage. It captures the American workingman's lifestyle with an unpretentious documentary flavor, and is every bit as appealing and deserving of widespread attention as "Hester Street." Vincent Canby called it "the most interesting regional American film I've seen in years."

and physical comedy. Rick Smith's production will attempt to go beyond the apparent simplicity and "evoke the truly existential blend of incisive character analyses and pure joyous festivity." Melissa Dodge who played Puck in last year's production of "Midsummer Night's Dream," and John Kennedy who portrayed Quince in that production will return to appear in "Twelfth Night."

The Inn Theatre plans a cabaret evening of soulful rhythmic music and song performed by "Out of the Blue" and friends on Friday evening May 13.

BUS COMPANY HERE

With Algonquin Sketches. "Algonquin Sampler" will be performed Wednesday, April 27, at 8 in the red lounge of Wilcox Hall on the University campus by the touring bus company of the National Theatre Institute.

"Algonquin Sampler" is a dramatic presentation of sketches, poems and monologues by Dorothy Parker, Robert Benchley and James Thurber. The piece was composed around the "Algonquin Roundtable" in New York's Algonquin Hotel, a haunt of many American writers and poets during the 1930's.

The National Theatre Institute is a project of the O'Neill Theater Center in Waterford, Conn. and is accredited through Connecticut College. The program was founded in 1970 and is partially funded with a grant from the Rockefeller Foundation. The Bus Company is composed of N.T.I.'s 23 students who are in a one semester program aimed at developing skills in all areas of theatrical production.

ANNE SHELDON BACK

In Players' Comedy. The non-British half of the cast of "The Importance of Being Earnest" – Princeton Community Players production which opens April 29 at 171 Broadmead – includes four performers who have entertained Princeton audiences for a good many years.

Ticket-holders for the opening performance are invited, as in the past, to remain for an after-theatre reception to meet the actors and the Players company. The play will also be given on April 30, May 1, 6, 7, 8, 13 and 14, at 8:30 on weekdays and 7:30 on Sundays. Reservations may be made by phoning 921-6314.

Heading the cast of the Oscar Wilde comedy as the redoubtable Lady Bracknell is Anne Sheldon, known for her many appearances at McCarter Theatre and Theatre Intime, and especially loved by P.J. and B. audiences as the leading lady of "Hello, Dolly," "South Pacific," "Guys and Dolls" and "The King and I." This winter she played Madame Armfeldt in "A Little Night Music."

Triangle Rehearsals: Slow, Meticulous Build-Up From One-Room Set to Full McCarter Production

Jill Smolowe, a member of Triangle Club and a senior at Princeton University, has written this account of rehearsals for the forthcoming Triangle musical, "Kafka, Tea or Me."

The elaborate sets, 23-piece orchestra and flashy costumes will all be there when "Kafka, Tea or Me" opens at McCarter Theatre on April 28.

For now, however, you still have to use your imagination. Desk chairs are placed as makeshift set pieces, a tinny piano substitutes for the band and Princeton Triangle Club members rehearse for their 88th annual production in cut-off shorts, bare feet and t-shirts bearing the show's logo, a bug inside of a triangle.

It is easy to forget, rehearsing in a small classroom on the third floor of the 185 Nassau Street buliding, that the room is a miniature of the McCarter stage. "McCarter's a big house—1100 seats," director Milton Lyon reminds the small group of players when the vocal projection slips. Lyon knows what he is talking about; he's been directing Triangle for 18 years.

On this hot April night, rehearsal has begun at 7. At 10, the group will move from 185 Nassau to Corwin Hall's auditorium to join the full cast for a run-through of Act I. A long night ahead, many students have brought school work to cram between entrances.

A One-Man Score. "Kafka, Tea or Me" was written by Princeton junior Arthur Einhorn who also co-authored last spring's show, "Mugs Money." The entire score has been provided by senior Mark Segan with orchestrations by freshman Steven Wexler.

Between scenes, Lyon lights a cigarette and explains that this year's production " is a play with music rather than a musical comedy. That means the play has a strength of its own and would be, in a certain sense, less casual."

There has been little casualness surrounding the writing of this play. Einhorn and Segan have been collaborating since last summer, reworking songs and scenes throughout the winter. While the book is complete, Lyon still alters or injects new lines when he detects a lack of life-like motivation in an exchange.

"Kafka, Tea or Me" centers on Max Sander, a fledgling playwright whose serious adaptation of Franz Kafka's short story "Metamorphosis" fails miserably on Broadway. Jill Baxter, a woman in his writing workshop, hits upon a commercial scheme to metamorphose the show into a musical comedy. When this new version, "Don't Bug Me," (which closes the show's first act with Gregor, the bug, liberating his fellow bugs and bringing them "out of the closet" for a high-stepping kickline) succeeds, Max and Jill's problems as artists and friends only begin.

Kick-line Forever. Cast members have been down to the costume shop in the basement of McCarter for fittings that afternoon. Everyone is buzzing about the 18 kickline costumes which are alleged to be as outrageous and comical as ever. The all-male kickline, which was preserved when Triangle went co-ed in 1968, promises to be one of this year's highlights.

The cast of 49 began rehearsing the first week in March. There will be no rehearsals on the McCarter stage until one week before the invitational dress rehearsal. For the 16 freshmen who have never played to a McCarter house, it is somewhat difficult to approximate entrance and exit timing as well as the exact depth of the stage.

Lyon is running one scene for the sixth time. "Don't upstage yourself," he cautions a student. Satisfied after one more run-through, Lyon calls for people in the next scene.

Scattered around the imaginary stage awaiting their entrances, students read, whisper quietly, chuckle occasionally at a line and swap cans of soda. The student stage manager is in a corner gulping down her dinner.

Rehearsals will continue until well past midnight, but after almost two months of rigorous rehearsals, the cast is accustomed to a late night schedule.

"Kafka, Tea or Me" will be at McCarter April 28, 29, 30 and May 1 with additional performances on May 6 and 7. Ticket information can be obtained by dialing 921-8700.

charter member of the Community Players who appeared in their first play, "Cock Robin," in 1933. He has since acted about 35 roles for the group and directed a half dozen of their plays.

The two young ladies -- Cecily and Gwendolen -- whose hearts are set on marrying anyone by the name of Ernest, are played by Denise Seutter and Suzie Bertin. The former is a singer at Princeton University who played the lead in the Triangle Club's "The Boy Friend" last fall and was seen only this month in the Intime's "Ring Round the Moon." Miss Bertin appeared last summer and this spring with the Inn Cabaret, and she has also acted at Washington Crossing State Park ("Your Own Thing"), with the Bonnie Players in Trenton, and at Mercer County Community College.

For Judith Forusz, president of the Players, this is her third directorial job in three years at the Broadmead theatre. She staged "A Thousand Clowns" in 1975 and "U.S.A." in 1976. She has taught drama at the University of Wisconsin and at present is a teacher of speech at Trenton State College.

"OKLAHOMA" PLANNED

By Lawrenceville Students. The Periwig Club of The Lawrenceville School will present, as its 157th major production, the Rodgers and Hammerstein musical, "Oklahoma!"

The renowned composing team's first collaboration has established itself as America's favorite musical. When it opened in New York, in 1943, it broke new ground, radically changing the look and sound of musical comedies for future decades by integrating song, dance, and plot to an extent never before attempted.

The Periwig production will play two nights only, Friday, April 29, at 8 p.m., and Saturday, April 30, at 7:30 p.m. Seats at $1.50 may be reserved by calling The Jigger Shop, Lawrenceville, 896-0620.

SHORT AND ORIGINAL

Experimental Films. Short films by 19 filmmakers will be included in McCarter's annual evening of experimental, independent and avant-garde cinema, scheduled for Friday, May 6, beginning at 8 p.m.

The films to be shown will cover a wide range of animation styles, computer-graphic films, live-action, and works involving pixillation, color xerography, hand drawings and fingerpainting on glass. Because of the nature of some of the films, the program is limited to adults only, and those under 18 will not be admitted.

The following evening, Saturday, May 7, also beginning at 8 p.m., another film event will focus on films about surfing, skateboarding, mountain climbing, and other sports.

The feature presentation will be MacGillivray and Freeman's latest full-length surfing film, "Going Surfin'," photographed in California and Hawaii by Bud Browne, regarded by many as the dean of surfing photographers. McCarter will also show another MacGillivray-Freeman production, "Magic Rolling Board," celebrating the skills of the nation's skateboarders with footage of

MUSIC
In Princeton

FOR YOUNG AUDIENCES

From Young Audiences. Music you can make with four strings and a box, songs out of the goldrush of '49, the rhythms of the juggler...all are part of performance aod participation when Young Audiences of Central New Jersey entertains young audiences io Princeton schools.

All third, fourth and fifth graders in the public schools will attend three Young Audiences performances between now and May 17. The series of concerts is being funded by a grant of $1,625 from Princeton Bank and Trust, and there will be no charge to the school system.

Two concerts were held this Monday and Tuesday. On Monday, May 2, the art of the mime and the clown will be featured at Johnson Park and Community Park. Clown Fred Yockers, whose father was "Freddy the Tramp" in Coney Island's Steeplechase Park, will join with John Towsen, performing clown since the age of six.

They will demonstrate the silent art of pantomine and contrast it to the rough and tumble of slapstick. They will also show their young audiences the rhythm of the juggler and a variety of circus skills.

The following day–Tuesday, May 3–the Millstone Trio will play in Riverside and Littlebrook. The trio, consisting of flute, bassoon and piano, concentrates on the American roots of chamber music. Youngsters learn about canon and fugue through marching tunes and "Yankee Doodle." In "My Country 'tis of Thee," they learn about the English origin of much American music.

The group also pantomimes John Cage's "Four Minutes and 20 Seconds," a composition of silence and "found sounds."

On Monday, May 16, Young Audiences will present cellist Styra Avins at Johnson Park and Community Park. She is the one who shows how to make music with four strings and a box–her cello. Making instruments from familiar objects like metal wastebaskets is part of her presentation, and although she sings a song with the children, clapping and finger-snapping along with them, she concludes her concert with a serious, traditional composition for cello.

Debbey McClatchy, folk singer, will visit Riverside and Littlebrook on Tuesday on Tuesday, May 17. A specialist traditional American folk music, Ms. McClatchey plays banjo, guitar, Appalachian dulcimer, pennywhistle and spoons, singing songs of the California gold rush, and traditional music from Ireland and the old-time religion.

Murray Cohen, principal of Johnson Park, has worked with M.T. Jacobs, vice-president of Princeton Bank and Trust, in developing this series of programs.

EXPERT HERE

To Teach Balkan Dances. The Princeton Folk Dancers will hold a special weekend workshop featuring Yves Moreau, a reknowned Balkan dance teacher from Montreal. Mr. Moreau will teach beginning and intermediate dances on Saturday from 2 to 5 at Littlebrook School aod on Sunday from 1 to 4 at 185 Nassau Street.

Saturday night at 8, the folk dancers will host a party at Princeton Inn College. Everyone is invited to wear international costumes and bring refreshments to share. Yves Moreau will show movies of native folk dancers and will review the dances taught in the afternoon.

The evening program will include dances from many countries. For further information, call Susan Male at 924-2286.

JOINT CONCERT FRIDAY

PHS, University to Join. The April Concert given by the Princeton University Freshman Singers and the Princeton High School Choir will be held Friday, 8:30 p.m. in Alexander Hall. There is no admission charge.

The High School Choir will begin the program with a work by Felix Mendelssohn for eight-part choir, "Sechs Spruche" (opus 79), movements one and two. This will be followed by "Ach Arme Welt" by Johannes Brahms, a motet by Anton Bruckner, "Os Justi," and two of the Quatre Motets (opus 10), "Ubi Caritas" and "Tu Es Petrus," by Maurice Durufle. They will close by singing another work by Mendelssohn, "Herr, Nun Lassest" (opus 69).

The Freshman Singers will then sing "Es Ist Das Heil" (opus 29) by Johannes Brahms, followed by "Three Elizabethan Part Songs" by Ralph Vaugh Williams. They will end with Paul Hindemth's "Six Chansons," the Hindemith set will be conducted by Robert Peskin '78, a former president of the PHS Choir.

"Requiem" (opus 48) by Gabriel Faure will be the featured work with William R. Trego conducting the combined choruses, orchestra and organ. Soloists will be Suzan Postel '80, soprano, and Jon Negus PHS '78, baritone.

CLOGGERS HERE

For Concert Workshop. The Green Grass Cloggers will appear in a concert and dance workshop Friday, April 29, at 8:15 in Pierce Hall, Trinity Church, 33 Mercer Street. The event is sponsored by the Princeton Folk Music Society in cooperation with the World Folkdance Co-op.

Originally from the area around Greenville, N.C., the Green Grass Cloggers began as a group of friends with a common interest in music and dance and have developed into a highly proficient dance team. In addition to the traditional square dance and clog steps, the group has added many of its own steps including unique high kicks. They dress in denim and calico and are known for their energy and spontaneity.

The Cloggers have appeared at many folk festivals and old time fiddle conventions such as the National Folk Festival and the Philadelphia Folk Festival. They will be accompanied by the Juggernaut String Band from Philadelphia.

General admission is $3, students $2.50 and members of the two sponsoring groups $2. Memberships will be available at the door, and there are no advance ticket sales.

A THEATRICAL ORIGINAL

In New McCarter Play. It'a a monologue, toid by one person alone in a room. But it's a different person in each of the two acts. It's a play called "I Was Sitting on My Patio, This Guy Appeared, I Thought I Was Hallucinating."

Avant-garde playwright Robert Wilson, who has been called "a theatrical anarchist, a direct descendant of Dada," has directed his play and will appear aa one of the two monologuiats. "I Was Sitting..." will be given a special, one-time performance at McCarter Thursday, May 5 at 8 p.m.

The other performer will be Lucinda Childs, dancer and long-time collaborator of Mr. Wilson's. She has described "I Was Sitting...." as having been made up of "over one hundred short story fragments. Each story ia distinct in and of itself, with occasional references to previousiy told stories and themes. The words spoken by the character are the thoughts going through the character's mind. Each story suggests things about what THAT character might be doing, positions he-she might be in, ways he-she might move."

The playwright explains that each of the two acts focuses on the actions of a single character: a man in the first act, a woman in the second. Each performance is underscored by the use of sound, film and a music score by composer Alan Lloyd.

CONCERT SCHEDULED

By Marlboro Musicians. "Music from Marlboro" will come to Princeton at 10 McCosh Hall on Wednesday, April 27, at 8:30 p.m. The concert is presented by the music department of Princeton University.

Four noted artists will take time from their solo activities to participate, violinist Young-Uck Kim; violist Heiichiro Ohyama; cellist Timothy Eddy, and pianist Stephanie Brown. For their program they will perform, Mozart: Duo for Violin and Viola in B flat K. 424; Beethoven: String Trio in G Major, Op. 9, No. 1 and Dvorak: Piano Trio in F Minor, Op. 65.

For the past 26 years, the celebrated Marlboro Music Festival, under the direction of Rudolf Serkin, has attracted leading professional musicians from around the world to the small village of Marlboro, Vt., to play chamber music each summer for seven weeks. The "Music from Marlboro" tours, now in their 12th season, are an extension of Marlboro music-making into the regular concert season and offer works intensively prepared at the festival the preceeding summer.

Tickets at $4, students $2, are available at the concert office, Woolworth Center, 924-0453, or may be purchased at the door the evening of the concert.

ALUMNA RETURNS

To Give Recital. Soprano Ann Sease-Monoyios will be heard on Sunday at 3 in Woolworth Center in the Clara Helen Kent Memorial Concert, under the auspices of the Friends of Music. She will be accompanied by Susan Almasi Mandei, pianist, and will present Schumann's "Frauenliebe und Leben" and Barber's "Hermit Songs."

Ms. Monoyios received her M.A. from Princeton in 1974, and while a student here gave numerous performances. She was a soloist with the Glee Club and was a founding member of Musica Aita. Now living in New York, Ms. Monoyios has a busy singing career performing with the New York Choral Society, Pomerium Musices (a group modelled after 15th century chapel choirs), and the N.Y.U. Collegium Musicum, among others.

Music Reviews Below Par.
To the Editor of Town Topics:

The reviews of musical events which have appeared in TOWN TOPICS during the past two seasons have been below the standard which prevailed previously. They have been filled with questionable opinions, expressed in careless language. Most did not accurately report the character of the concert under discussion.

I believe that the community, and the visiting artists, deserve better.

TWO MAN SHOW SET

At Grover's Mill Gallery. The Gallery at Grover's Mill Graphics will present a two-man exhibition of works by David Scudder and Jack F. Harris. The public is invited to the opening reception Sunday from 1 to 4 to meet the artists and see the prints, drawings, collages, and paintings.

This will be the first showing in the Central New Jersey area for Mr. Scudder who lives in Rochester, N.Y., and has exhibited extensively in the Finger Lakes Region of New York State. He received his M.F.A. degree from the Rochester Institute of Technology and taught design and printmaking at Nazareth College and the Rochester Institute of Technology. He will be exhibiting prints and collages in which strong graphic images are achieved through juxtaposition of shapes and ideas resulting in an aerial perspective of landscapes and figures.

Mr. Harris, who received his M.F.A. from the San Francisco Art Institute, will be displaying a mixed media exhibition. Noted for his intricate and textural studies of nature, he combines fine draftsmanship with symbolic interpretations to allow his compositions to emerge.

The exhibit may be viewed through May 7 at 164 Cranbury Neck Road, Princeton Junction. Regular gallery hours are 10 to 4 Thursday through Sunday, or by appointment.

FRENCH ART ON VIEW

At University Museum. An exhibition of 18th-century French life-drawings has opened at the Princeton University Art Museum and will continue until May 8. The exhibition is a signal contribution to the general reassessment of French art in the 18th century, and the role of academic training in relation to the art of that period, very recently undertaken by scholars in France and now in America.

The 39 drawings in the exhibition have been selected by James H. Rubin, assistant professor in Princeton's Department of Art and Archaeology, from the collection of Mathias Polakovits, Paris. Mr. Polakovits has made his collection of French academic drawings available to Princeton University for study, which has resulted in the present exhibition. He has previously made gifts of drawings to the Museum, with the promise of future gifts from the group selected for the exhibition.

In the group on display are a magnificent sheet by Jacques-Louis David and four especially fine drawings by Edme Bouchardon. Also included are works by Francois Boucher, Jean Jouvenet, Francois Lemoine, Charles Natoire, Jean Restout and his son Jean-Bernard, and Carle Van Loo, among others.

The exhibition's catalogue, written by Professor Rubin in collaboration with David Levine and with a foreword by Pierre Rosenberg, is available from Princeton University Press for $24.50.

The Art Museum is open Tuesdays through Saturdays from 10 to 4 and Sundays from 1 to 5. It is closed Mondays and on major holidays.

MAY BUS TOUR SET

By Art Association. The Princeton Art Association will travel to Purchase, N.Y., May 7 to see the newly installed Louise Nevelson sculpture show at the Neuberger Museum. New works of welded metal sculpture by the artist will be on exhibit at the museum, which is part of the State University of New York, through Labor Day.

The tour, which is also open to members of the community on a first come, first served basis, will leave from the Princeton Shopping Center, Acme side at 8:30 a.m., one half hour earlier than previously scheduled. The group will meet Jeffrey Hoffold, director of the museum, and will have Elaine Lee as docent. A snack pack will be provided, and arrangements are being made for the use of the lunchroom although participants are advised to bring their own beverages.

Ms. Nevelson, whose works are in major museum and private collections, is having a one woman show at the Neuberger. In addition to this exhibit, there are other interesting artworks in the museum, including an outstanding sculpture garden. Further details and reservations may be obtained by calling the PAA at 921-9173. Mrs. H. Kempton Hastings is in charge of the tour, and Mrs. Heinz Henemann is tour chairman.

The group will return at about 5:30.

GREENE WORKS IN SHOW

At Unitarian Church. Paintings and three dimensional plexiglas constructions by Princeton artist George Greene are now on view in the new gallery at the Unitarian Church, Cherry Hill Road, off State Road.

The gallery will be open to the public this Saturday from 2-4, admission is free.

Corner House

people here, and we refer people there. And if we think that a certain therapist at Trinity would be good for a certain person, we send that person there."

Corner House, in addition to broadening its field of service, now does much more family counselling than in the past. The "identified client"–that's professional language–may be 14 or 15, but if the family isn't functioning, Corner House wants to work with everyone in the family.

Sometimes the youth will balk at this. "No, I don't want my family here!" Art had a boy in treatment for eight months before he was willing to have his family invited to Corner House.

Are parents themselves willing?

"If a kid wants his parents to come, he'll get them here," Art says.

"Pre-Trial Intervention. Most of the 145 young people now on Corner House's roster are there because they heard about it from their friends, and saw how their friends were helped. Others were referred by school or the courts. If a youth has committed a first offense, he may be assigned to Corner House as "Pre-trial intervention," to save the expense of a court appearance and save the youth a record.

Although Art sees Princeton as the end point of the traditional American dream, he also sees Princeton parents as more realistic about problems that can arise after 21. That used to be the year you were grown up. Now, thanks to such writers as Erik Erikson, people are more aware of developmental stages, Art has found.

"Parents who know this can do 'insight work' and be more flexible and helpful."

Staff at Corner House–four half-time, six full-time–are supervised by John Hoad, who says that continuing training of the staff keeps a "growing edge" to the organization.

Three-hour weekly staff meetings, case presentations, training courses in family therapy at various institutions, all contribute. Two internes–Saul Salkin from the Rutgers Graduate School of Social Work and Nancy Gorsuch from Princeton Theological Seminary–assure continuity, in other agencies and other years, if not at Corner House.

Nancy White has ideas of her own about a growing edge. She would like to have closer, tighter ties with Princeton High School "on the preventive level." She wants to get kids to early treatment services. She wants to make Corner House better known at the high school.

Open to Everyone. Anyone, incidentally, can walk into Corner House for help. The first time, if you have no appointment, you'll just be seen briefly and told what Corner House is about.

But you can make an appointment ahead of time (924-8018). At your first visit to the comfortable place, with its big rugs and chairs and magazines (it doesn't look like a dentist's waiting-room), the person who greets you will talk with you about what's on your mind, what you need help with. And it will go from there.

In a recent folder, Corner House writes:

"It's hard to ask for help. It's even harder to change. But things can get better if you let them, especially if you have someone to help you. You aren't the only one with problems....you don't have to solve them alone.

"Others have found their way to Corner House. You are welcome, too."

Join Hot Line?

A training program for new listener-volunteers for "Hotline" will be held Friday and Saturday, April 29 and 30 in Princeton. Those interested are asked to call 924-1144, or 448-1144 any evening between 8-11 p.m.

On Friday evening, Dr. William Combs, psychiatrist, will explain "Hotline" policy, goals and expectations. On Saturday, the "Hotline" staff will train the new volunteers in listening skills and explain what to do in a crisis.

Volunteers are expected to contribute 12 hours of service each month. This includes not only active "Hotline" listening, but participation in monthly training sessions. At these sessions, volunteers join workshops on such topics as rape victims, crisis intervention, what agencies to refer "Hotline" clients to, the Corner House rap on youth, and so on.

SALE SCHEDULED

By Rhododendron Group. The Princeton Chapter of the American Rhododendron Society will hold its annual sale of rare and unusual rhododendrons on Saturday, April 30. The sale is open to the public and will make available to the gardener many varieties of rhododendrons that are rarely if ever available from the usual sources of these beautiful plants.

Included in the collection will be hybrids produced by famous breeders including Charles Dexter, Joseph Gable, Anthony Shamarello and Guy Nearing. Standard sizes and dwarfs, reds, pinks, whites and lavenders are included in the collection. As a special feature this year there will be a number of yellow-flowered hybrids that have been successful in the east, including 'Odee Wright', 'Chikor', 'Caroline Grace' and 'Mrs. Betty Robertson'.

The Princeton Chapter, a non-profit organization, uses the proceeds of the sale to support its display garden, which has been moved to the campus of Mercer County Community College, as well as its annual flower show and other activities designed to inform people about rhododendrons. The sale will be held on the campus of Mercer County Community College adjacent to the new display garden. The College is at 1200 Old Trenton-Edinburg Road, West Windsor Township.

Sale hours are 9 to 4:30, rain or shine. All plants will be sold on a first-come, first-served basis.

ITEMS SOUGHT

For West Windsor PTA Fair. Plans for the West Windsor-Plainsboro PTA "Flying High" School fair, scheduled for Saturday, May 21, are well underway as the various booth chairmen begin seeking volunteers and sale items. The fair will feature a ride in a tethered hot air balloon, weather permitting, owned and operated by David Lowe of West Windsor.

Items sought include household odds and ends, used jewelry, books and toys for the white elephant. Handicraft items which can be sold for under $5 are requested by handicraft chairmen Janet Clark, 799-0648, and Marianne Hetzel, 799-3419, while plant booth chairman, Val Tarassov, 799-2127, needs a variety of plants, plant and vegetable seedlings and plant cuttings.

Ruth Edenbaum, 799-2497, and Nancy Simon, 799-2468, are looking for an assortment of baked and gourmet foods. Volunteers are needed to operate many of the booths, including several new ones, and should call Miriam Robin, 799-0203, Helen Seymour, 799-0845, Joan Buckley, 448-3328, or Cheryl Jackson, 799-9260.

Donated items for the white elephant may be dropped off at the home of Barbara Walker, 1 Hawk Drive, or Jeanne Gustafson, 28 Wood Hollow Road, both in Princeton Junction; Paul Monko, Dey Road, Plainsboro; or Marion Kornstein, 10 Channing Way, Grovers Mills. Proceeds from the fair benefit the PTA scholarship and the cultural events funds. Janet Butcher is PTA president, Dick Harbourt is fair chairman.

It's hard to believe, but true, that a batboy once made a higher salary than some big league ball players he picked up bats for...He was Eddie Bennett, batboy for the Chicago White Sox in 1919...He told players to rub his shoulder and it would bring them luck...They did, and they won the pennant that year ... Bennett got the reputation of being a lucky charm, so the Dodgers hired him away in 1920 and THEY won the pennant ... By now, just about everybody wanted Bennett, and the Yankees offered him a huge amount of money to come with them for the 1921 season ... Bennett did, and the Yanks finished first! ... By that time Bennett was making more money than some of the players!

LACROSSE SATURDAY

Against Dartmouth. A lacrosse game against Dartmouth at 2 on Finney Field is the only spectator action at home involving Princeton men's spring aports teams Saturday. The Tigers will play there again Tuesday at 3 with Brown providing the opposition.

Last week was one of disappointment for Princeton in the sport as the Orange and Black lost a 9-8 contest to Penn under the lights at Franklin Field. The Tigers defeated the Red and Blue here last apring, and victory was essential again if they were to have any chance of earning the runner-up apot in the final league standings. Cornell, the Ivy and the national champion, is beyond reach.

Princeton was trailing, 8-7, at Philadelphia when midfielder Greg Chaires scored with eight seconds left to bring them even. Two scoreless overtime periods followed, and a third, sudden-death session was then started.

The home team scored the winning goal at 2:21, after a shot that bounced off the post had prevented Princeton from victory in the second overtime. Chaires led the losers' offense with three goals, Dave Tickner adding a pair.

At New Haven Saturday, the Tigers thrashed Yale, 18 to 5, as Wick Sollers broke the Princeton career scoring record when he raised his total to 153 points. His output for the afternoon in the rout of the Elis was six goals and two assists.

Tickner matched the previous mark of 147 with a pair of assists. The old record had been set a quarter-century ago by Ralph "Bo" Willis, who was also a tailback on the 1952 football team.

It was 7-2 for the Tigers after 15 minutes and 10-2 at the half. The victory left Princeton with a 1-1 mark in Ivy action and 2-4 overall.

Last Inning Proves Fatal. The Tiger baseball team led last week in the final inning of all five games it played but lost three of them. The defeat at Providence came when Brown collected a two-run homer with two men out and a 3-2 count on the batter. It was a 9-7 final, and the loss at that stage of the game may not have had a precedent in the long history of Princeton baseball.

Pitching problems, which had not plagued the Tigers seriously all spring despite a lack of experience, came to the fore in the trio of setbacks. At Villanova Wednesday, the Orange and Black had a 10-4 lead in the eighth, yielded six runs in that round and then gave up the deciding tally in the ninth to lose, 11-10.

Next day they massacred Manhattan on Clarke Field, scoring six runs in the third before a man was retired and eventually posting an 18-5 triumph. They banged out 20 hits, including five doubles and two triples as freshman Jon Baker coasted to the one-sided victory.

Mike O'Brien and Doug Lorentz were the pitchers who failed to hold Brown in check. The Tigers had come from behind in the top of the ninth with three runs, one of them a homer by sophomore right fielder Ed Kish, but could not hold on, and Brown recorded its first league victory after three defeats.

First the Good News. The story was much the same Saturday at New Haven, where the good news came first in the firm of a four-hit, 9-1 victory recorded by senior Bob Tufts to raise his record to 5-0. Fourteen hits, including another home run by sophomore first baseman Vic Kurylak, allowed the Tigers to take this one easily.

Princeton took a 3-2 lead into the final inning of the second game, but starter Paul Zoubek yielded the tying run and was replaced by Matt Gorman. When another Eli run followed for a 4-3 decision, it ended a six-game Yale losing streak and in all likelihood ended any chance of Princeton finishing first in the Eastern League.

The Tigers will be at Annapolis Saturday for a doubleheader against Navy. With Columbia off to an 8-1 start, Princeton is faced with the probable need to win virtually all of its remaining eight games to have a chance of catching the Lions.

Gorman, who has had his problems this spring, was in fine form Monday as he blanked Long Island University on Clarke Field, 6-0. The decision raised the Tigers' record to 13-6.

Center fielder Paul Pecka led Princeton's 13-hit attack, his three singles raising his average to .467 (28 hits in 60 at bats.) The team batting average is an unreal .324 — if the pitching this spring was anything close to last year's, when the Tigers had the two best hurlers in the league, they would be a shoo-in to take it all.

A run in the first when Captain Bob Flaherty drove in shortstop Dennis Spates and three more in the second gave Gorman all the cushion he needed. Left fielder Joe DeGeorge's two-run single was the big blow in that surge. Gorman retired the first 10 men he faced, scattered five hits and struck out five.

Crew Loses to Navy. Princeton's crew will race Saturday against Penn and Columbia on the Harlem River, with the Child's Cup, oldest intercollegiate rowing trophy, at stake. It is currently in Peon's possessioo, and the Quakers are favored to retain it.

Navy defeated the Tigers on Carnegie Lake Saturday, winning by as little as two tenths of a second in a race staged agaiost a strong headwind. The visitors were clocked in 6:36.0 for the 2,000 meters.

The midshipmen led at the start, had a half-length lead with the race half over and then were caught by Princeton with 100 meters left. A brief, coordinated sprint at the finish sent the Navy over the line by a narrow margin.

In another varsity regetta, Northeastern defeated Yale by a length, recording the best time of the day with a clocking of 6:33. Rutgers was third in this event.

Princeton's 150-lb. crew won from both Navy and Rutgers in the lightweight regatta, trimming the runner-up middies by better than half a length. The Tigers will try to keep their record unbeaten when they row Cornell at Ithaca Saturday.

Title In Golf. Eight strokes separated Princeton from second-place Yale and nine from third-place Harvard as Coach Bill Quackenbush's golf team won the Ivy championship Friday. The Tigers posted a total of 611 in defending their titte successfully over the Agawam Club course at Pawtucket, R.I. They have a match Saturday over the Springdale course against Navy.

Princeton's tennis team remained unbeaten in Eastern Association play with victories by 9-0 over Brown and 6-3 over Yale. Their next match is at Navy Saturday, wit the visit by Harvard here on May 10 likely to decide the 1977 championship.

SEARCH UNDER WAY

For New Hockey Coach. An eight-man committee has been named to select a hockey coach to replace Jack Semler at Princeton. He has resigned after four years here to develop a program just starting in the sport at the University of Maine.

The committee, which will report on its findings to Athletic Director Royce Flippin, will be headed by Sam Howell, Associate Director of Athletics. Working with him are Joe Mignon, a member of the University's Office of Personnel Services; Bill Quackenbush, Semler's predecessor; Reagan Kearney '68, President of the Alumni Friends of Princeton Hockey; Chris Leach '73, the alumni arganization's vice-president and secretary; and three players named co-captains of next winter's team: Bill Tresham, Jon Van Siclen and Frank Techar.

The University has said that it hopes to reach a decision in the matter by the end of May.

PHS NINE IN TROUBLE

After Fourth Loss. The Princeton High School baseball team is a team on the brink.

It is engaged in a struggle to avoid yet another season of mediocrity, and Tuesday's 12-2 loss to visiting Lawrence — its fourth one-sided loss in a row after the opening win — only serves to underline how desperate the struggle has become.

The team may have already been dealt a mortal blow with the sudden loss of catcher Todd Blackledge, the defensive anchor of the team. Blackledge leaves soon for Ohio where his father has accepted an assistant coach's position at Kent State. He had been offensive coordinator under Princeton football coach Bob Casciola.

Difficult 26-Game Schedule Arranged for Princeton Five

One of the most difficult schedules ever arranged for a Princeton basketball team, which is known for playing an extremely high calibre of opposition, has been announced for the Tiger quintet next winter. Of the dozen non-Ivy foes Pete Carril's team will face, three were in the top 20 nationally last season and all but two (Colgate and Navy) were in either the NCAA or the NIT.

Only 11 of the 26 contests will be played in Jadwin Gymnasium. In addition to the traditional seven home Ivy League games, Princeton will face St. John's, Villanova and Rutgers here in December and Hofstra in January.

A pair of two-day tournaments are highlights of the action. On December 21 and 22, the Tigers will enter the Indiana Ctassic, for which Alabama and USC are booked, together with the host team. During the week between Christmas and New Year's, they'll be seen in Madison Square Garden with Alabama, again; Georgetown and Holy Cross.

For the first time in a great many years, Princeton will open with two games on the road. The schedule sends them to Colgate on November 26 and to Navy four days later. Their first home game is against St. John's on Saturday, December 3.

The schedule: Nov. 26, at Colgate; 30, at Navy.

Dec. 3, St. John's; 8 at Fordham (Madison Square Garden); 13, Villanova; 17, Rutgers; 20-21, Indiana Classic (Alabama, USC, Indiana, Princeton); 27-29, Holiday Festival (Georgetown, Holy Cross, Alabama, Princeton).

Jan. 3, Penn; 6, Dartmouth; 7, Harvard; 10, at Seton Hall; 21, Hofstra; 28, at Penn.

Feb. 3, Columbia; 4, Cornell; 10, at Brown; 11, at Yale; 17, at Harvard; 18, at Dartmouth; 24, Yale; 25, Brown.

Mar. 3, at Cornell; 4, at Columbia.

RIZZUTO HONORED: Rich Rizzuto (second from right) receives the 1976-77 Backboard Award, given annually by WHWH and the Princeton Rotary Club for the past 11 years, to the Princeton Basketball player who provided the vital reserve strength when most needed. Looking on at the award ceremonies (L to R) are Herb Hobler, President, Nassau Broadcasting; Pete Carril, Princeton basketball coach; Rizutto; and Howard David, play-by-play announcer of the Princeton basketball games and Station Manager of WHWH.

The team was further weakened with the loss of outfielder Dave Mitler, sidelined for two or three games with a bruised heel. "If we can weather this storm, we'll be all right," said PHS coach Jim O'Neill.

But there remains an even more ominous sign of disaster. The pitching, thought to be sound with three returning starters, hasn't come around. "No one," commented PHS catcher Jamie Robertson after Tuesday's debacle, "is throwing any strikes."

"We're five games into a 20-game season," said O'Neill. "We have two choices. Either give up and accept defeat or we can work twice as hard. We can't face 15 more games and not think we can win."

Hightstown Thursday. Hightstown stands in the way of the start of any PHS turnaround. The Rams reached the Group 2 NJSIAA state finat last year with a team that lost only one starter. The contest will be played Thursday in Hightstown, starting at 4.

Monday, the Little Tigers will be at Allentown. Both games are in the Colonial Valley Conference, where PHS is 0-2.

Tuesday's game with Lawrence (3-1) was torture for O'Neill. Time and again the play of his team in the field would elicit moans from him. It was a typical PHS outing of late. It gave up too many runs and played sloppy ball in the field. The parade of pitchers to the mound was ineffectual.

PHS gave up an unearned run in the third on a throwing error and sacrifice fly but came back in the same inning to score both its runs and take the lead. Keith Phox singled home Steve Miller, who had gotten on by via an error, and Phox scored later on another Cardinal miscue.

After scoring another run to tie it at 2, Lawrence pushed nine runs across in the fifth. Starter Carl Nazzaro left with one out and the bases full -- the victim of a walk, two errors, a double steal and another walk.

His replacement, Johnny Boccanfuso, could not hold the gates. One run scored when he failed to cover first on a bunt. He walked in another run. Then after third baseman Scott Thompson threw a runner out at home, Corry Frederick singled home two runs, Boccanfuso hit Mike Donnelly to force in another; Dave Rue, up for the second time, doubled home two more. Exit Boccanfuso, enter Al Kandell.

Kandell was greeted by a single off the bat of Ralph Ditmers, sending home the seventh and eighth runs of the inning. Matt Sabisky then singled between first and second for the ninth run before Jack Bruner lined to Mike Nosal at second to end it.

O'Neill called his team together for a pep talk after the inning. "You guys are letting yourselves get down out there. The way you look you're going to be beat bad. Get on the ball this inning and get some hits."

First up, Tom Breithaupt, designated hitter for PHS drew a walk and Boccanfuso went into run for him. On his own, Boccanfuso tried to steal second and was thrown out. "Stupid," said a stunned O'Neill. We don't need one run, we need nine."

Phox vs. Hun. On Saturday, Phox started for PHS against Hun, but his pitches were not moving. "They had no zip," said O'Neill.

PHS reached Hun pitchers for seven runs and 10 hits, including a pair by Bruno Perna who drove in three runs and three hits by Scott Thompson. Dave Miller was 2-for-3.

Hun, however, doubled Princeton's run production with 14, collected 16 hits and scored 10 runs in two innings. Jim Baxter worked the last three for PHS, struck out three and walked five.

In one inning, Hun had the bases loaded with two down. With slugger Tim Teel at the plate, Blackledge, playing in his last game, gunned a shot down to second and picked off Jim Cortina.

"Right there, the momentum changed," said Hun coach Bill McQuade. "Princeton was out of the inning and in the next inning they went on to score and take the lead."

In other games, PHS was trailing Notre Dame, 3-1, off a solo homer by Kandell when Kandell also served up a grand slam as the Irish went on to win, 8-5. Kandell, who threw 100 pitches in the first four innings, often found himself faced with a 3-2 count. "He served up too fat a ball on payoff pitches," commented O'Neill.

Still earlier, in a 13-4 loss to Hopewell Valley, Nazzaro walked the first three batters he faced and then two runs scored on an error. "It went from bad to worse," sighed O'Neill. HV led by eight after two innings.

O'Neill blames himself for the breakdown in the pitching. "In March, when it seemed set," he said, "I spent too much time with the offense and defense when I probably should have devoted more time to the pitching."

O'Neill added that his players have worked too hard and have too much talent to let the season continue to slip away. But right now, he is a worried man.

PDS WINS THIRD GAME

On Barondess' One - tiitter. The strong right arm of Dave Barondess replaced the strong left arm of Mike Walters last Wednesday, and the result was the same as Princeton Day won its third game of the season, defeating Blair, 3-1. Barondess allowed just one single in seven innings.

Pitching a "super game" according to his coach, Tom DeVito, Barondess had good control, allowing only one base on balls, while striking out four. The lone Blair hit, a line drive single, came in the second inning, and did not figure in the run. That came in the fourth, and was unearned, the result of a two-base error, a passed ball and a sacrifice fly.

By that time the Panthers had buitt a 3-0 advantage, scoring one in the third and two insurance tallies in the fourth. Tony Knott got things going with a double, stole third, and scampered home on a fine squeeze bunt laid down by Barondess.

An inning later, Jay Nusblatt singled, Frank Piccolello doubled and Lou Guarino walked to load the bases with none out. John Hickling struck out, but Tony Dell grounded out to send one run in. Andy Sanford walked reloading the bases and Knott got an infield single to drive in the second run.

The Panthers had eight hits in all, and made two errors in the field. The way Barondess and Walters are pitching at the moment, DeVito plans to start Barondess against Montclair, and use Walters Friday against Delbarton. The way these two are pitching, the Panthers will have to beat themselves to lose.

PHS IS PRESSED

By Lawrence Netmen. Princeton High was treated anything but kindly by the visiting Lawrence High tennis team Tuesday.

Scott Clark and Allen Aronovic both won singles matches but Louis Snijders, Princeton's No. 3 player, lost for the first time this year to Richard Klubeck, 3-6, 6-1, 5-7.

The two doubles teams split. Mike Loew and Hugo Walter of PHS won, 6-1, 6-3, but Peter Wilson and Seth Sanders lost to Mike Johnston and Alex Rodgers of the Cardinals, 1-6, 5-7.

GIRLS POUNDING BALL

In Softball. Any team averaging 19 runs a game ought to be a winner.

That is what the PHS girls softball team has done in its first five games this season, outlasting Lawrence Tuesday, 17-15, for its fourth victory.

The girls opened the season with a 19-8 victory over Montgomery, crushed Hopewell Valley, 30-17, aod defeated Hamilton, 16-11. Their lone setback was a 13-9 loss to Notre Dame.

"We've hit the ball well,"

On Thursday, the girls will be at Hightstown (which reportedly has a standout pitcher) and will entertain Allentown Monday afternoon at 3:45.

PANTHERS WIN TWO

In Lacrosse. The Princeton Day lacrosse team has served notice that it will again be in the running for the state championship, beating Blair, 8-5, last week, and Edison, 6-5, this past Monday. PDS defeated the former in the semi-finals and the other in the finals of last year's tournament.

Three tough non-division games await the Panthers of the course of the next five days: Princeton High this Wednesday at home, Pingry Friday at home and Peddie next Monday away.

Mark Zawadsky led the Blue and White against Blair with three goals and three assists. Peter Buck, playing "one of his best games" according to coach Bob Krueger, had two goals, Rob Olsson also scored twice and picked up two assists, Skip Guerin had one goal and John Haraldson, two assists.

PDS led by as much as 8-2, before Krueger began to give his reserve players some playing time.

In the Edison game, PDS had a 6-1 lead when the substitutes went in, but the visitors took advantage of this and closed the gap to 6-3. Back in went the first string, but it was a while before they regained their momentum, thus the one-goal margin of victory.

Zawadsky again led all scorers with three goals and two assists, while Olsson, Haraldson and Wilkinson scored one goal apiece. Lucky Pine played a fine game in the goal, Krueger noted.

PHS IS VICTOR

In Sprint Medley. At the annual Mercer County relays held Saturday at Ewing High School, Princeton High School came in first in one of the 14 team events.

Robert Wyland, Ken Bullock, Tony Strong and Nick Piroue combined to win the sprint medley in 3:47.7, edging Hightstown, which was clocked in 3:50.6. The Little Tigers finished fifth among the ten competing teams with 24 points.

Hamilton won the team title with 59 points, followed by Hopewell, 39; Ewing, 38; and Steinert, 34.

PHS finished third in the 880, 440 and 3¾ mile distance medley.

In its first dual meet of the season last week, Princeton was outclassed by Hopewell Valley, 87½ to 43½.

Bullock was the lone doubles winner for PHS, taking the 100-yard dash in 10.15 and the 440 in 52.2. Strong was second in the 100 at 10.25. Piroue captured the 880 in 2:05.4.

Barry Turner won the long jump with a leap of 20 feet, one inch, but the Little Tigers were shut out in the other field events. Both schools were clocked in 3:44.7 to tie in the mile relay.

PHS AND PDS TO CLASH

On Lacrosse Field. "I have every reason to believe that PDS is going to be one dynamite game. There's a revalry there and both teams dearly love to beat each other."

That is the way Princeton High coach Bill Cirullo views Wednesday's in-town battle with Princeton Day School. The game will be played at PDS, starting at 3:30.

"On paper," said Cirullo, "PDS didn't look to be that strong but they've put something together. They beat Summit by one goal and Summit is a good team. I expect a very tough game." Last spring, PDS tripped the Little Tigers, 8-5.

On Friday, PHS will entertain Edison and on Monday it will be at Lawrenceville. Both contests will start at 3:45.

Before PHS played Peddie last week, it had been ranked fifth in the state by the oaches poll (Lawrenceville was third) off its showing in opening wins over Cinaminson and Pingry.

That ranking suffered, however, when Peddie handed the Little Tigers their first loss, 8-7. "They played a strong first half. They put a lot of pressure on the ball and we had a difficult time adjusting," Cirullo commented.

The half ended 4-1. An early score in the final period by Peddie was poorly defensed by PHS and "it was a killer" said Cirullo. That gave the home team an 8-4 margin.

"Then we decided to play lacrosse," Cirullo said. Indeed, Peddie hardly touched the ball thereafter. With 2:49 to go it never succeeded in getting the ball over its midfield line. In the final 47 seconds PHS was a man up.

The Little Tigers peppered the goal but none of its shots went in. With seconds left, a shot by Morgan Mohrman hit the goal pipe but it caromed off instead of in. "The goalie never saw it," moaned Cirullo.

"It was a tough one to lose," he added. "We would have been 3-0 overall and 2-0 in the league."

Bobby Campbell led the PHS attack against Peddie with three goals. Jamie Lesher had another outstanding game in assists, getting credit with an assist on four of Princeton's seven goals while scoring one himself.

"He had a fantastic day; he's doing a good job for us," said Cirullo.

TWO MORE SWEEPS

For PHS Netmen. Two more 5-0 sweeps over Notre Dame Thursday and Hopewell Valley earlier in the week raised the record of the Princeton High School tennis team to 3-0. The Little Tigers have not lost a set this season and are currently, as expected, on top in the Colonial Valley Conference. Is this year's team comparable to the Little Tiger team of last year which won the Group 1 and 2 NJSIAA championship? "It's hard to say," said coach Joe Diefenbach. "The kids are playing well; they're all doing pretty much as I expected them to do." He added that both his top singles players, Scott Clark and Allen Aronovic are playing well.

The answer to the question of how good the team is will come Wednesday. At 3:45 PHS will entertain Christian Brothers Academy, the number one ranked team in the state for the past two years. Last year, CBA defeated PHS, 4-1, one of two teams to stop the Blue and White.

Diefenbach reported that he hasn't had too much advance information about CBA this year but he commented, "I'm sure they're going to be strong."

Notre Dame won only seven games against PHS in its match. The mild surprise was Princeton's mastery over Hopewell Valley which has a strong team this year. In fact, the Hopewell coach was talking in terms of the Bulldogs upsetting the Little Tigers.

And the match was not as easy as the 5-0 score would indicate. In singles play, Clark defeated John Connolly, 6-4, 7-5; Aronovic stopped John Koether, 6-2, 6-2, and Louis Snidjers was extended to three sets in the number three singles by Hopewell's Randy Czyzewski, 6-2, 2-6, 6-2.

In doubles play Mike Loew and Hugo Walter won 6-3, 6-1, while Peter Wilson and Seth Sanders won the number two doubles, 6-4, 6-2.

HUN EVENS RECORD

With Two Victories. In the space of four days last week, the Hun School baseball team saw its record rise from .000 to .500 with lopsided victories over Friends Central and Princeton High School.

With its once-quiet bats now speaking again, Hun has a chance to add more to its win column with games against Perkiomen Wednesday, Lawrenceville, Saturday and Pennsylvania School for the Deaf on Tuesday. The latter and Perkiomen contest will both be at Hun, starting at 3:30.

"I was surprised we were able to score as many runs as we did," said Hun coach Bill McQuade of his team's 14-7 victory over rival PHS Saturday.

Hun overcame a 5-4 PHS lead with five runs in the fourth and put it out of reach with five more in the fifth. Junior pitcher Fred Wollman won his second game in the row, had three hits and drove in three runs. Two of his hits were doubles, one with the bases loaded to highlight Hun's first five-run outburst.

Tim Teel, Bob Innocenzi and Rich Arbitelle all lashed triples as Hun collected 16 hits off four PHS pitchers. Jimmy Cortina added a double to the Hun barrage which saw every starter in the lineup get at least one hit.

Earlier, Hun "came out hitting the ball" against a weak Friends Central team and overwhelmed the Quakers with an 18-hit attack that included four triples. The final score was 18-5.

Woolman, who pitched that last three innings after starter Bob Kwiatkoski's back started to tighten up, won the game in relief.

RAUSCH, JESSER WIN

In Sailing Races. Jeff Rausch came in first in the Laser class and Dick Jesser led the Sunfish skippers in races held Sunday by the Carnegie Sailing Club.

Trailing Rausch were John Henderson and Bob Holtzmann. Ed Metcalf and Tom Huntington were second and third in the Sunfish competition.

Those interested in competing in fuhire races should call Commodore Petar M. Grosz, 924-6019.

JAY LAPIDUS INVITED

To Junior Davis Cup Camp. Jay Lapidus, Princeton's celebrated junior tennis player, has been invited to participate in the National Junior Davis Cup Training Camp late in June of 1977. This camp includes the country's top 20 junior tennis players; nine will be chosen to represent the United States as the Junior Davis Cup squad.

The National JDC Training Camp is held prior to the start of the major National Junior Circuit to select the junior members of the National Junior Davis Cup Team. The players selected for the National JDS Squad will travel together on the national circuit with an adult captain. The camp is held at Walden on Lake Conroe near Houston, Texas.

Lapidus, who is captain of the Lawrenceville School team, as well as their No. 1 player, was ranked 24th in the nation by the USTA in 1976. He was ranked No. 1 in the Middle States Tennis Association and No. 1 in the N.J. Tennis Association in 1976. He was also a High-School All-American in 1976.

His most recent tournament accomplishments include reaching the finals of the Richmond Jr. Invitational where he lost to Tommy Cain (No. 12 ranked junior nationally) in three sets, and beating Ross Walker, a three-time college All-American in a Houston match.

DOUBLEHEADER PLANNED

for Basketball All-Stars. High School basketball all-stars from Washington, D.C., New York, Philadelphia and New Jersey will participate in a doubleheader this Friday at 7 p.m. at Dillon Gym on the University Campus.

Sponsored by the Joint Effort Foundation, the doubleheader will match the Washington team against Philadelphia in the first game, and New York against New Jersey in the second. Junior Oldham and Randy Melville, outstanding players for Princeton High and Princeton Day, will play for the New Jersey team.

Two first team high school All-Americans, Eugene Banks of Philadelphia and Albert King of New York will also play. Tickets available at the door are $3 for adults, and $1.50 for children. For further information call John Young or Tom Parker, 924-0996.
